MUCH ALARM FOR BRITISH MONARCH; ILL AT BIARRITZ

LONDON, March 16.—There is increasing uneasiness in court and Government circles to-day over the unfavorable news from Biarritz regarding the health of King Edward. Early dispatches said that the King was suffering only from cold, but it develops that he has also had several severe chills since going to the French resort.

It is said that the King's illness is not responding to the treatment that has hitherto brought him relief in similar attacks.

IRISH DINNER IS ST. PATRICK'S DAY FEATURE

In the long list of St. Patrick's Day celebrations scheduled for to-morrow in Boston, the 173d annual meeting and dinner of the Charitable Irish Society at Young's Hotel to-morrow night stands foremost.

The gathering of this organization this year will be of particular importance as the membership roll of 525 names is the largest in the association's history. The program for the after-dinner exercises to-morrow night is especially elaborate.

The principal speaker will be Arthur Brisbane of New York, who will answer "The Day We Celebrate." Other speakers and the toasts to which they will respond are: Collector of the Port Edwin Upton Curtis, "The United States"; Justice John W. Hammond of the Massachusetts Supreme Bench, "The Commonwealth of Massachusetts"; President Walter Baltzuttzer of the City Council, "The City of Boston;" President Robert Pirie of the Scots' Charitable Society, "Our Sister Societies."

To-morrow morning, in accordance with the usual custom, there will be a business meeting and election of officers of the Charitable Irish Society. Owing to the recent death of J. W. Rooney, who served as secretary for many terms, the society will elect a new secretary as well as other officers.

For the banquet delegates have been invited from the following organizations: Scots' Charitable Society, Caledonian Club, Canadian Club, Intercolonial Club, St. Jean de Baptiste Society, Italian Charitable Society and American Irish Historical Society.

This banquet will come as fitting end to a general celebration of St. Patrick's day by Irish and many other organizations. This year, however, there will be no St. Patrick's day parade. The organization will keep open house and many guests from out of town will be present.

EDWARD E. MARTIN SUES FOR DIVORCE

Edward E. Martin, stage doorkeeper at the Majestic Theatre, filed a petition for a divorce in the Suffolk County Divorce Court to-day. His wife, Isabelle, is the second Mrs. Martin. When he met her in New York in 1904 she was employed in a hotel as a chambermaid. He charges persistent intoxication and says she has a bad temper. The Court granted a decree of divorce from Elizabeth A. Lamphear to Louis C. Lamphear, an inmate of the Soldiers' Home, Chelsea.

600,000 MINERS NEAR A STRIKE

CINCINNATI, O., March 16.—The national convention of the United Mine Workers to-day considered the threatened general strike in Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, but there is less outlook now than there has been for changing the plans to call out 600,000 men in a fight for higher wages. The talk of miners and mine officers is now strong for a strike in the event of a failure to get an advance in wages to-day.

O'MEARA SAVES POLICEMAN GUILTY OF FALSE ARREST

In a general order promulgated to-day Police Commissioner O'Meara overrides the verdict of the trial board that found Patrolman Samuel J. Sweetland guilty of falsely arresting for intoxication Miss Sally E. Beck, a social worker, and advised his dismissal from the force, and he substitutes for it 210 days of punishment duty.

MISS BECK LEAVES CASE FOR PUBLIC TO DECIDE.

Frederick Cabot, attorney for Miss Beck, said to-day that the whole matter was "now up to the general public to pass upon it."

Three of the most conservative and able captains of the force comprised his trial board: Captains Evans, Sullivan and Harriman. Sweetland was furnished with counsel, so that every possible point in his favor might be brought out. After this was all done, the police captains, who are supposed to know what is best for the force and for the city, because of long years of experience as the city's guardians, made this finding:

"The Trial Board finds the defendant guilty and recommends that he be dismissed from the police department."

O'Meara Overrules Verdict.

Then steps in O'Meara, Civilian, Autocrat, Self-Constituted Court of Last Resort. This is the verdict:

"It is hereby ordered that Patrolman Samuel J. Sweetland of Division 1 perform 210 hours of punishment duty, and that he receive the reprimand in general orders which is herein contained."

Not dismissed from the force, not removed for a single hour from duty, not a single cent taken from his salary! A finding that is so manifestly a mockery of what the trial board reached that it is apparent that O'Meara has done it more to flaunt his power in the face of those who have accused him than to see that justice is done the city and the police force.

In his long review of the case, which is virtually a defence of Sweetland, O'Meara says nothing of the anguish that the injured woman in the case suffered or the narrow escape she had from having her life wrecked.

The woman is Miss Sally E. Beck. She

KELIHER IS AGAIN ON STREET

"Big Bill" Keliher was a Man About Town to-day just as usual. After his midnight return from New York and his conference with Attorney Daniel H. Coakley in the early morning hours, he went to his cottage at Ocean avenue, Winthrop Beach, for a sleep.

Later to-day he came up town with Mrs. Keliher. They lunched at one of the downtown hotels. Then, while Mrs. Keliher went shopping, "Big Bill" called at Attorney Coakley's office. Coakley was busy in court, so "Big Bill" strolled down Pemberton Square Hill and strode jauntily up Tremont street, swinging his cane with his accustomed debonair grace.

He walked by the Parker House, gladdening casually to all the bay where the famous Curley-Keliher bout was pulled off, not long since. Then "Big Bill" kept on, nodding to friends and apparently enjoying the sunshine which fell on all alike.

Martin J. Walsh will not return to Boston soon. "Big Bill" told friends to-day that only last Saturday he bade Walsh good-by as Walsh embarked for the Mediterranean from New York. Walsh had been in Montreal. He came down to New York Friday and booked passage for Italy.

"Keliher Not Wanted Here."

Attorney Coakley phoned United States District Attorney French and United States Marshal Guy Marshal to-day that Keliher was in town and would be produced if desired. From both offices reply came back, "Keliher is not wanted here."

Then Coakley phoned Deputy Superintendent of Police William B. Watts that Keliher is in town. "Nothing doing here," was the gist of Watts's reply. "This office has no use for him."

In New York Keliher and his wife were at the Murray Hill Hotel. It was from there that Mrs. Keliher telephoned to Lawyer Coakley. Later Keliher talked over the wire with Boston friends. The March Grand Jury had been suspended about an hour when Keliher was told of this. He had been informed that the Federal authorities are not concerned with him, so he knew there was no immediate jury proceedings against him. He lost no time in getting back home.

He communicated with his family by secret messenger. Last Thursday, when the Suffolk Grand Jury was investigating the frauds of the "Ropes Syndicate," by which Boston men lost several hundreds

GLEN COLLINS IS ACCUSED BY BOSTON WOMAN

Through a bill filed to-day in the Suffolk County Superior Court, Ellen Bell Ryder charges that Captain Charles Glen Collins, a hero of the English army, from whom his wife, Nathalie Schenck Collins, obtained a divorce in New York, has left Boston for England and has defrauded her out of stocks and bonds to the value of $25,000.

Captain Collins was until recently connected with a pottery company in South Boston. His divorced wife is a prominent woman in Newport and New York, being one of the most intimate friends of Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt.

The bill filed to-day names both Captain Collins and Frederick W. Fosdick of Boston as defendants. Ellen Bailey Ryder declares that on February 14 last Collins assigned his interest in the Middlebury, Vt., Marble Company to Fosdick in order to defraud his creditors and her in particular, and that he left this country for England.

"Loans Were Temporary."

It is declared by the plaintiff that between June 1 and December 1, last, she loaned Collins stocks, bonds and cash to the amount of $25,000 which included 4 shs in the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, and the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroads.

The woman declares that the loans were temporary and that since December 1, last, she tried to go into the loans but has failed to get anything with the exception of $500.

Ellen Bailey Ryder asks the court for an accounting and judgment for the amount that may be due her, and that injunction be issued restraining the defendants from disposing of any of the property. In order of notice is returnable to-morrow.

Married in 1904.

Captain Collins was officer of the regiment of the Cameron Highlanders. He and Nathalie Schenck met at the home of George sohlid, met again at Gibraltar, where they became engaged, and were married in Monterey, Cal., April 17, 1904. They disagreed on their honeymoon at Honolulu, when his bride found that the Captain was short of money. Later she brought a suit for divorce in New York. The divorced wife is the daughter of Mrs. Spottiswood Schenck and has one child.

REAL RUSSELL LIVING IN WEST, SAYS LETTER

Acting Chief of Police Osborne F. Beers of Melrose to-day received a letter dated and postmarked San Francisco, March 7, stating that the real Daniel Blake Russell is a resident of that Western city and that he is there at the present time.

The Melrose police at once communicated with Attorney Leslie R. Simpson, counsel for the North Dakota rancchman who claims to be Daniel Blake Russell, and Mr. Simpson has begun an investigation.

While the Melrose police would not allow the text of the San Francisco letter to become public, or give out the name or address of its writer, they said that he stated that the real Daniel Blake Russell was living in San Francisco, that his father had been Daniel Russell of Melrose, that his father had been a State Senator and that he, Daniel Blake Russell, had left Melrose thirty years ago.

The Melrose police say that the letter further stated that the Western alleged Daniel Blake Russell didn't care about the money his father had left, but that he didn't want the money to go to an impostor. It was further stated that a registered letter for William C. Russell was on its way East, and asked the Melrose police to see to it that the letter was delivered to William C. Russell in person.

There was no hearing in the Russell case at East Cambridge to-day, due to the non-appearance of several New York witnesses who had been called by Senator Simpson.

These witnesses were expected at 9:30 o'clock, but after waiting until after 11 o'clock Judge Lawton adjourned the hearing until to-morrow morning.

Not five more witnesses remain to be heard for the claimant before the arguments in the famous case begin. Of these five one is the claimant himself, and another is Dr. Albert H. Hamilton, the handwriting expert.

Mr. Simpson expects his evidence will be all in Friday night or Monday.

GIRLS ROLL OVER TO REDUCE FLESH

MUSKOGEE, Okla., March 16.—Muskogee has a Roller Club. Its members are all young women, and they roll themselves to reduce their flesh. They belong to the best society of the town.

It all started this way: A pretty but overgrowing society matron astonished her friends by "losing" her hips. Then she explained that she did it by rolling, which was still more surprising until she elucidated. She said that she began by rolling over and over on the floor as a girl gymnast, and that she found that it reduced flesh rapidly. She kept at it until she was rewarded by what she considered the ultra-fashionable hipless form.

GIRL WEAVERS TO STAY ON STRIKE

By unanimous vote at their union meeting to-day, the 118 girl strikers of the Roxbury Carpet Mills decided to remain out until they have withdrawn the order reducing the wages of the velvet carpet weavers, although it was expected that a six months' shutdown would follow their failure to return to work to-morrow morning.

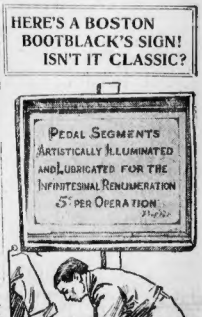
HERE'S A BOSTON BOOTBLACK'S SIGN! ISN'T IT CLASSIC?



"SHINE" WITH A HARVARD SHADE

Question—If a bootblack takes fifteen words to say "Nickel a shine," how many columns would a Harvard professor require to direct a stranger at Dudley street elevated station?

Answer—A dictionary and then some.

Here's the illegal limit.

Professor Pat is a Charles street bootblack. He believes in signs, and in having signs tell something. His sign is a liberal education. When it comes to culture, the very bootblacks in Boston have the rest of the country nailed to the literary mast.

Here's Professor Pat's sign:

Pedal Segments Artistically Illuminated and Lubricated for the Infinitesimal Remuneration of 5 Cents Per Operation. PROFESSOR PAT.

Maybe he who runs may read. But you can't read that sign on the run. You have to stop, look and ponder. While pondering, have a shine. Wily Professor Cat.

DALLAS, Tex., March 16.—"Consul," referred to by scientists as the nearest human ape ever brought from the jungle, and who during the past year has entertained thousands of people throughout this country and Europe, died here to-day from pneumonia.

Consul was stricken with the malady in Chicago late in January, but recovered sufficiently to return again to the road. He suffered another attack here a few days ago from which he never rallied.

Consul's manager, T. L. Miller, has had the body embalmed and will ship it to England for burial. The man ape was insured for $50,000.

Among other things Consul smoked cigarettes like a human, ate with a fork, rode a bicycle, wrote with a pen or pencil, used a telephone, fired a gun, feured, boxed, threaded a needle, clog danced and performed many other stunts. Consul had been presented to King Edward of England and other crowned heads.

The ape put up at the best hotels, wore the clothes of a human being, including a high hat, frock coat and shoes. It was estimated that Consul had earned close to $150,000 for his manager.

WOODEN-LEGGED MAN TWO-THIRDS DRUNK

NEW YORK, March 16.—Any one who doesn't believe that three kittens have been hatched from two hens eggs is referred to Miss Adelaide Neil, daughter of W. C. She placed them in the box where the family rat is accustomed to take her repose, found the eggs missing and in their place three kittens.

GUILTY; PATROLMAN WHO ARRESTED WOMAN IS SAVED BY O'MEARA

is a woman of spotless character. She is a purely worker and a school visitor. She is connected with the North Bennett Street Industrial School. She is one of the plain people such as Abraham Lincoln loved, working for the good of the plain people. Honesty of purpose and justice of her cause are all she had to help her in this crisis of her life.

Miss Beck WAS DOING HER DUTY when she got into trouble; and PATROLMAN SWEETLAND WAS NOT DOING HIS DUTY.

It is part of Miss Beck's duty to see that boys who are out in the streets alone late at night should be taken home. The persons who should help her in this work are the policemen who are paid to do it by the city. Miss Beck found such a boy in the street of the North End, spoke to Policeman Sweetland about it and the policeman turned his back and continued to talk to his wife. Miss Beck persisted, even going so far as to tell the policeman she would take his number and report him.

Lieutenant Saves Woman.

There was just one thing that saved Miss Beck, and it wasn't because she was entirely innocent, either. It was that at the desk, when Sweetland's "drunk" was brought to the station in the patrol wagon, was Lieutenant William H. Allen. He refused to help Sweetland get by making his false charge good.

Had that lieutenant helped out Sweetland, Miss Beck would have been interfered, as far as the police were concerned, and all the testimonials in the world would not have saved her.

The narrow escape that Miss Beck had and the torture that she has suffered since she dared to oppose a Boston policeman have laid her in a sick bed. She is suffering from nervous breakdown, while Sweetland is chuckling over his whitewashing and saying what a "h——" of a good fellow O'Meara is!"

Here is what O'Meara says Sweetland has already done to make reparation:

Policeman's "Anxiety" Saves his Job

"Since the complaint was made he has supplemented his first apology with others of the simplest kind (an apology for an assassination of character), that he has borne the expense of counsel (for himself), and that for nearly three weeks he has endured the anxiety of a man approaching middle life with a family to support who faces the loss of his means of living. (Not with O'Meara running the force!)

Here is the "anxiety" of the policeman, pathetically dwelt upon by O'Meara, but not a word of the AGONY of the girl whom he had traduced and maltreated!

After reviewing the case and telling how Sweetland arrested Miss Beck while he was disobeying the laws of the police force, O'Meara says:

"Thus was a grave injury suffered by a lady who had been for years engaged unofficially but effectively in benevolent work to that part of the city, always up to this time, as she testified, with the full co-operation of the police.

"It seems incredible that the defendant could have deliberately sent to the station house under a charge of intoxication a person whom he knew to be sober, and whose freedom from intoxication would certainly be ascertained on her arrival, as it was ascertained, by the superior officer in command.

"Policeman Is Responsible."

"But a policeman is responsible for a mistake of this character, and when it is made because of anger, lapse or lack of proper inquiry the responsibility is all the greater.

"The trial board finds the defendant guilty and recommends that he be dismissed from the police department. Both finding and recommendation are absolutely just, and nothing is left but the consideration of mercy.

"The defendant has served for eight years on exceptionally hard routes, has encountered all the dangers which they present, has made many arrests, and until the present time has never been brought forward for trial or punishment. His superior officers testify to his uniform sobriety, faithfulness and efficiency.

"Giving reasonable weight to these facts and to the further consideration that since the complaint was made, he has suppressed his first apology with others of the simplest kind, that he has borne the expense of counsel, that for nearly three weeks he has endured the anxiety of a man approaching middle life, with a family to support, who faces the loss of his means of living, the question to be answered is whether or not a punishment less than dismissal can be imposed without injustice to the complainant, danger to the public or to the discipline of the force, or the risk that the defendant will hereafter be a less valuable officer than heretofore he has been.

"Taking all these circumstances in account, can the lapse of five minutes be considered because of the good work of eight years?

"I believe and find in this case mercy may properly be shown, and therefore, while the finding of the board is hereby approved, it is hereby ordered that Patrolman Samuel J. Sweetland of Division 1 perform 240 hours of punishment duty and that he receive the reprimand in general orders which is herein contained."

ROCKEFELLER DIRECTING OIL TRUST FIGHT

WASHINGTON, March 16.—John D. Rockefeller is personally directing the fight now on in the Supreme Court for the preservation of the greatest trust in the world, which he built up. Although he does not appear in court, every move made in the legal battle to have set aside the decision of the United States Circuit Court for Missouri ordering the dissolution of the company, every bit of evidence produced by the Government and every phase of the entire struggle has been gone over carefully by Mr. Rockefeller.

Attorney D. T. Watson, for the trust, declared in court to-day, that there has been no change in the original oil company group which existed in 1870 and that the business had expanded until the Standard Oil Company was organized in 1899.

"There is nothing in the Sherman act," he said, "that limits the amount of wealth or number of people who may engage in business and there is no competition among the companies that formed the combination for the reason that a man cannot compete with himself."

Mr. Watson referred to the Northern Securities case and pointed out that there was nothing in that decision that can possibly have any bearing on the oil case now before the Supreme Court.

MILLIONS MORE FOR U. S. STEEL

NEW YORK, March 16.—The annual report of the United States Steel Corporation, made public to-day, showed a remarkably fine business year, with the company working on the largest capital and surplus on record. The capital aggregates $220,873,000 and the surplus $154,354,000 for 1909. The bonds issued during the year aggregated $20,875,000, which, with bonds retired, left a net increase in bonded and debenture debt of $12,718,699.

The balance for common dividends, after all charges, amount to $53,305,573, or 10.48 per cent. on the $508,392,500 capital stock outstanding, and the surplus with 4.03 per cent. earned on the same capital last year.

The report shows that the average number of employes was 190,580, in increase of 20,000.

Chairman E. H. Gary says that the substantial revival of business in the spring of last year was maintained during the year 1909 and that dividends on Preferred Stock was purchased by 17,441 employes.

QUEENSTOWN—A bottle cast overboard by Commander Peary on his return from the North Pole was picked up to-day near Kinsale, after having travelled at least 5,000 miles in six months. In it was a letter, dated September 2, 1909, stating that the bottle had been dropped from the ship Roosevelt in latitude 61.45 to ascertain the rate of the current off the Labrador coast. The Roosevelt was then homeward bound. The letter is addressed: "McMillan, Freeport, Me."

KRITCHMAN DEATH EVIDENCE FINISHED

NEW HAVEN, Ct., March 16.—The evidence for the trial of Sophie Kritchman was finished to-day and the trial of Joe Mitchell, who is also accused of the murder of Bronislaw Kurinskas at Naugatuck, was begun. The last witnesses in the Kritchman case were medical experts. Dr. William H. Carmall of the Yale Medical School testified that Kulvinskas, after lying fifteen hours bleeding from brain wounds, could not have made an intelligent dying statement and that his words, "Sophie killed me," were not trustworthy. Mitchell's lawyers attempt to work to establish an alibi. They have three eye witnesses to swear that Mitchell was in other places on the night of the murder. Miss Kritchman will be called as a witness against Mitchell.

MAKES KIDNEYS ACT FINE ENDING LAME BACK AND BLADDER MISERY.

A real surprise awaits every sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble who takes several doses of Pape's Diuretic. Misery in the back, aides or loins, sick headache, nervousness, rheumatism pains, heart palpitations, dizziness, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyes, lids, lack of energy and all symptoms of out-of-order kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, offensive and dis-colored water and other bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect kidney or urinary disorder, or feel any rheumatism, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

It is needless to feel miserable and worried, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the out-of-order kidneys and urinary system, disinfecting its cleansing, healing and strengthening influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Accept only Pape's Diuretic—fifty-cent treatment—any drug store—anywhere in the world.

REQUIEM FOR CAPT. LANEGAN

The funeral of Fire Captain Patrick W. Lanegan of Ladder 12, who was crushed to death by falling walls while fighting the big fire in the Boston Elevated machine shops, Saturday night, was held to-day from St. Eulalia's Church, South Boston. Fire Commissioner Parker, Chief Mullen and over 100 men from the regular and protective departments escorted the body to the church, and to the cemetery.

All along the route to the cemetery bells in the fire houses were tolled. At Ladder 13 on Warren avenue, the apparatus was drawn out on to the street and the firemen attached to the house stood beside it with bared heads as the body of their late captain passed slowly by.

The body was escorted from the home of Captain Lanegan's brother, Thomas Lanegan, No. 912 East Fourth street, to the church by a detail of seventy-five men from the fire department, led by District Chief N. J. Kennedy, and twenty men from the protective department, in charge of Superintendent Samuel Abbott.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Matthew E. Towers, the pastor.

$150,000 GIFT FOR CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL FUND

Francis W. Hunnewell has made a contribution of $150,000 as a nucleus to the big fund which is being raised to erect and endow new buildings for the Children's Hospital on Huntington avenue.

Other citizens have contributed an aggregate of $85,000. This makes a total so far of $245,000. Twelve people, giving $5,000 apiece, made up $60,000 of this amount. They are Mrs. Jere Abbott, Gordon Abbott, Oliver Ames, Shepherd Brooks, William Endicott, Jr., G. A. Gardner, G. P. Gardner, H. S. Hunnewell, F. E. Peabody, W. S. and J. T. Spaulding, Nat Thayer, A. Lawrence.

Other contributors include such prominent people as E. V. R. Thayer, Miss F. P. Mason, Mrs. Larz Anderson, Mary S. Ames, Mrs. K. W. Scott and others. The sum of $1,000 is sent in memory of Dr. Edward Everett Hale and another $1,000 in memory of Ellen Richard Slater.

The hospital managers hope to erect large and modern hospital structures on land owned by the hospital on Longwood avenue, adjoining the Harvard Medical School. A large sum will be necessary to do this adequately.

The Children's Hospital was founded in 1880 for treatment of children between the ages of two and twelve years suffering from acute medical or surgical diseases. Last year 1,263 little patients were cared for in the wards, 25,885 out-patients were treated and 1,853 visits were made by the outdoor relief department. There are 75 beds in the present hospital. It is desired to have 150 in the new one.

The Boston Children's Hospital is one of the foremost institutions of its kind in the country. It was there that Dr. Lovett, the famous Viennese specialist on hip diseases, performed some of his notable "bloodless surgery" for reduction of dislocation of the hip, such as he performed on little Lolita Armour in Chicago.

It is requested that subscriptions be sent to Gordon Abbott, treasurer, at the old Colony Trust Company, 17 Court street, Boston, the payments to be made at any time as the convenience of the subscribers before January 1, 1911.

STRIKE VOTE IS UNDER WAY ON NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Ct., March 16.—The employes of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad to-day began a general vote on a strike which would tie up the entire system of the company. Strike ballots were distributed to union and non-union employes. Not till the ballots are counted Monday will the decision of the men be known.

President Mellen could stop the threatened strike by intervention, but he has shown no inclination to make such a move. Negotiations between the men and the road are off. The matter now rests with the men and the general adjustment board of the brotherhoods of conductors, engineers and firemen.

Members of the grievance committee today declared that the company's final offer has been unanimously rejected.

General Manager Higgins gave the committee, representing the conductors and men and yardmen, a tentative proposition in answer to the request made by the men January 1 for increased compensation and better working rules.

TRAINMEN FIX MARCH 22 AS DAY FOR STRIKE

CHICAGO, March 16.—The date for the strike of 30,000 firemen and engineers on the forty-eight Western railroads has been set for March 22, unless the mediation of the United States Government is successful.

To-day the Louisville & Nashville granted an advance to the conductors. Unless either the railroads of the employes, firemen and engineers, alter their present stand the government mediators coming to avert a strike of 30,000 men on Western roads will be baffled in the outset and have to return to Washington with their mission a failure. Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission and Labor Commissioner Neill are due here to-morrow to take up one of the hardest tasks government mediators have ever undertaken.

ROOSEVELT AT SCENE OF WAR, VIEWS TROOPS

KHARTOUM, March 16.—Theodore Roosevelt to-day on the historic battlefield of Omdurman reviewed a body of Egyptian troops. It was the second visit of the Roosevelts to Omdurman, opposite Khartoum, on the east bank of the Nile. Colonel Roosevelt was led to visit the place by his intense interest in the battlefield, where the native uprisings were crushed thirteen years after Gordon's loss in his great fight at Khartoum. On the desert plain the Twelfth Soudanese, one of the crack regiments, gave an exhibition drill and passed in review before Mr. Roosevelt.

As this is next to the last day Colonel Roosevelt and his family will stay here they found the time growing all too short to crowd in all the visits they wished to pay to places of interest. The ex-President is due to leave Khartoum to-morrow evening by special train on the way to Cairo. A stop of one day will be made at Assuan, Upper Egypt, on the east bank of the Nile and two days will be given over to a visit to Luxor. His present plans are to sail for Naples early in April.

Mr. Roosevelt to-day, in another talk on his tentative plans, finally and definitely swept away all hope that he would accede to the request of Western conservationists and return to America via San Francisco, making a triumphal trip across the continent.

The real reason, it is declared—although Mr. Roosevelt maintains silence on all matters political—is that he does not wish to dim the glory of President Taft and a journey across the continent would surely be nothing less than a political demonstration.

Mr. Roosevelt has promised to visit Denver and Cheyenne in August to attend Frontier Day celebration.

TAFT WARNS WOMAN IN FRONT OF AUTO

WASHINGTON, March 16.—On his way to the station from the White House today, President Taft had an extremely exciting moment. The big White House automobile, bearing him and his aide, Captain Butt, narrowly escaped running down a woman. The car was going at good speed when a woman darted in front of the machine. Instantly the chauffeur applied the brakes, bringing the machine to a sudden stop. The President was on his feet and shouted a warning. The car continued on its way and narrowly missed hitting a car.

FORMER SENATOR MITCHELL IN RACE

Former Senator John J. Mitchell of Marlboro will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Fourth District. He made this announcement to-day to the AMERICAN over the telephone from Albany. Mitchell says he is confident he can defeat the present incumbent, Charles Q. Tirrell, of Natick, if the latter should again receive the Republican nomination.

LYNN GIRL, HELD UP, FOILS THIEF WHO STRIKES HER

FANNIE WEBSTER.

Set upon by a ruffian in plain sight of her home, Miss Fannie Webster, a petite Lynn saleslady in a department store, declares she escaped serious harm by having a good pair of lungs and being able to cry out for help despite the savage threats of the highwayman to do her harm.

Miss Webster had been home from a visit to friends and left a Boston-bound car at the Lynn Common depot, walking down the Bennett branch railroad tracks to her home on Edward's Court. Just as she reached the fence which separates her yard and the tracks a man jumped at her from the dark and grabbed her by the throat.

She cried out for help and the man struck her a savage blow

SCORE IN PERIL AT CAMBRIDGE FIRE

Marooned on the back porch of their home with a sheet of flame bursting from the windows threatening every moment to incinerate them, Mr. and Mrs. Bullen and their two children were rescued and carried to safety by Howman Hartney during a fire that swept through the three-story wooden dwelling at No. 1124 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, early to-day, drove a score of lodgers to the street in a panic and did more than $2,000 damage.

EXPERTS BATTLE IN GRAFT SCANDAL

ALBANY, N. Y., March 16.—A war of handwriting experts, which promises to be as heated as any clash in a murder trial, has been precipitated in the Senate hearing into the bribe-taking charges against Senator Allds, by the testimony of his expert, Albert A. Hamilton. To-day both sides have experts to continue the testimony in regard to the exhibits. Hamilton's declarations that comments on the $6,500 check which figured in the story of Hiram G. Mc. Mc., were of more recent date than the body of the check, lead to the intimation that the evidence had been altered to strengthen the case against Allds. The senate votes March 29 on the charges.

JUGULAR VEIN GOES SO BOY MAY LIVE

PLAN TO CALL OUT ALL UNION MEN IN NATION

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—A general strike throughout the United States, affecting millions of workers, was to-day predicted as the direct outcome of the Philadelphia general strike and the imminent State wide strike. While the members of every union in Pennsylvania were voting on an immediate State wide strike, Hugh Barron, secretary-treasurer of the Carmen's Union, said:

"We are on the verge of a national strike. If this matter is not quickly settled within a short time every union man in the country will be called out. Unionism is passing through a crisis and the struggle here is but the opening gun in a mighty battle for the life of organized labor in the Nation."

Only a sudden change of front on the part of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, absolutely reversing the past and present attitude of the company, can avert a State-wide general strike in sympathy with the car men.

Efforts to bring about an amicable settlement have been abandoned or are all but hopeless.

Throughout Pennsylvania the unions began voting on the general strike, following the order issued by President E. E. Greene of the State Federation of Labor directing every workers' organization to be in readiness to walk out at a moment's notice. This means 142,000 men.

It was declared to-day that the outlook was that within forty-eight hours every industry in the State might be at a standstill so far as the unions could the work up. It was also declared that the general strike in the State might be further postponed in the hope of a settlement being reached.

LATEST EASTER STYLES will be told in the SUNDAY AMERICAN by the world's greatest models, Lady Duff Gordon. Don't miss this.

JAPAN FINDS FLAWS IN KNOX PEACE COURT

TOKIO, March 16.—Japan will not object to the permanent peace court proposed by Secretary Knox, though the foreign office has kept a discreet silence on the subject. Inquiry, however, develops that while there are undoubtedly some difficulties in the way these are not insurmountable.

Japan will point out that a compulsory court of arbitration must be most carefully organized. In this case fifteen countries are involved, not only a few of the powers are to have permanent judges of the court. Some difficulty is anticipated in securing these to join in the minor powers in the matter of their representation.

It will be pointed out that there may be difficulty in securing positive pledges that the decisions of the court will be accepted by all the powers concerned. For instance, it is pointed out that while the United States might go into the arrangement in all good faith, nevertheless a convention signed upon the decision of the court would have to be submitted to Congress and might be rejected.

HARRIS REFUSES TO HELP BUCHANAN

MIDDLEBORO, March 16.—Judge Robert O. Harris of Bridgewater has refused his aid in the congressional fight in the fourteenth district to William H. Buchanan, his successful rival for the Republican nomination and declares he will not attend the big Republican rally in Brockton Saturday night when Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Congressman P. Gardner are expected to speak. Judge Harris' stand is considered as significant in that it is likely to influence his friends and the men who supported him in the convention.

FORMER MAYOR SAMUEL GREEN 80 AND 'HAPPY'

Mark Twain himself could send no more picturesque message to the world than came this afternoon from former Mayor Samuel A. Green, who to-day turned his eighteenth year.

Physician, civil war veteran, publicist and now director of the Massachusetts Historical Society Library, the ex-mayor is a very notable citizen. He tells how pleasant it is to grow old young.

"It is easy to grow old," he says. "All you have to do is sit down and wait and you will arrive there without any exertion whatever on your part.

"I am an optimist. I have always looked on the bright side. I have never let anything trouble me.

"Now that I have to-day reached the four score mark I have not changed my attitude. One pleasure of growing old is that when you stop you die.

"I don't want to die yet, as life grows more exciting and interesting every day.

"I am not as strong as I was two years ago. When I broke my ankle all my other joints seemed to let down a little, still I am quite happy, quite happy."

GAS KILLS MAN AS HE SLEEPS

Kenneth Sutherland, twenty-nine years of age, single, of No. 873 East Second street, South Boston, was found dead in bed at 9 a. m. The police say a gas cock was found open.

Medical Examiner Leary is investigating the circumstances. It is said that Sutherland's mother, Mrs. A. S. Sutherland, lives at Hudson, Picton County, Nova Scotia.

A coincidence which the police recall is that on Monday morning at the same hour John Fitzgerald was found overcome in the house at No. 802 East Second street, South Boston, from escaping gas. He was rushed to the City Hospital, where he was resuscitated.

RHEUMATISM ADVICE

Given Prominent Doctor's Best Prescription—Is Easily Mixed.

"Get one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound and one ounce of Toris compound. Then get half a pint of good whiskey and put the other two ingredients into it. Take a tablespoonful of this mixture before each meal and at bed time. Shake the bottle before using. This is not new in this city as many of the worst cases of chronic and acute rheumatism and back-ache have been cured by it. Good results come the first day. Any druggist has these ingredients on hand or will quickly get them from his wholesale house.

SOUTH BOSTON IS ALL READY FOR TO-MORROW'S BIG EVACUATION FETE

South Boston is ready for the greatest evacuation day celebration in its history. Decorations are going up in every part of the peninsular district, from which the British troops were driven after a long siege. Buildings are being covered with flags and bunting. And the addition of Emerald Isle color is making the district a riot of green and red, white and blue.

To-night the big feast begins. The night before banquet, with speeches and merrymaking will be held in Bethesda Hall, Broadway, South Boston. The speakers are of unusual prominence. Congressman Hobson and General Isaac R. Sherwood, congressman from Ohio, both arrived in the city to-day and will make the main speeches.

The banquet to-night is for the guests and officials. To-morrow the real celebration, with fireworks, parade, games for the youngsters and their older brothers and sisters and general rejoicing will take place. Mayor Fitzgerald intends to see that the people get their share of the fun. One of the conditions under which he gave the committee $3,000 for the celebration was that the children be given every chance to enjoy themselves. And they will.

O'Brien for Toastmaster.

The committee of the South Boston Citizens' Association has the celebration plans in charge. The oration to-morrow will be given at 7:30 and the fireworks will begin at 9:30. Former Congressman McNary will preside at the exercises at the South Boston High School, and Congressman Weeks of Newtonville will be the orator.

Representative William H. O'Brien will be toastmaster to-night. The Rev. Mortimer E. Twomey of St. Eulalia's Church will be chaplain, and the City Council and Mayor are expected to be among the guests.

Here is the roster and foundation of the great military and civic parade which is to be the spectacular pageant of Evacuation Day's celebration in South Boston to-morrow:

HOUSTON COMPANY SPRING OPENING

The James A. Houston Company is giving its Spring opening this week. There is a display of splendid proportions in the woman's suit department. There are several foreign models, including two notable suits of elegance, with hand embroidered effects. Other severely plain models are displayed. The Berlin models attract very large attention while Paris, as always, with London, too, have sent their choicest exhibits to this splendid show of women's wardrobing. There is a wealth of interest in the department to-day. A concluding display is that of the frocks, chiffons, voiles, satins, pongees and foularis.

WOMEN INTOXICATED BY LOADED BONBONS

CHICAGO, March 16.—Getting drunk on "candy" has become such a widespread practice among men, women and children in the stockyards quarter that the State Food Department announced to-day that it would stop the sale of the intoxicating bonbons. "One particular 'candy' excels the vilest whisky for intoxicating results," said Assistant Commissioner John B. Newman.

HERE'S PET TROUT "MIKE," KNOWS NAME

WINSTED, Ct., March 16.—"Mike," a tame trout in a small pond at Highland Lake, always responds to its name. When the ice partially disappeared from the pond and the owner of Wintergreen Cottage called "Mike," the trout leaped up and ate bits of steak from his hand.

PROF. HOVGAARD OF TECH DEAD

Commodore William George Hovgaard of the Royal Danish Navy, former professor of naval architecture at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and one of the best-known experts in ship design, died in Copenhagen to-day, according to cable dispatches to the AMERICAN.

He left the Massachusetts Institute only a short time ago and was still connected with it, though in the service of his native country. Aside from being a noted designer of merchant vessels and warships, he was one of the bravest explorers that ever faced the North. He was a member of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers and of scores of honorary scientific associations throughout the world.

Commodore Hovgaard came to Tech in 1901 and was instrumental in building up the only department of naval architecture in America. The Naval Academy at Annapolis now sends engineering students to the Boston school for a special course.

CREW OF STEAMER FOUGHT CANNIBALS

Captain Greenhill and his crew arrived here to-day with their British tramp steamer George Fleming from Calle and other South American ports, thankful that they escaped the cannibals of Terra del Fuego. On the night of January 30, when the ship was anchored in the narrowest part of the Straits of Magellan, a great horde of savages swarmed up over the ship's sides from all quarters. Mirrors held before the savages brought them to a standstill. Then with guns and cutlasses the crew drove the intruders from the ship.

"BIG BILL" KELIHER TOLD COAST IS CLEAR; RETURNS TO BOSTON

of thousands dollars, Keliher was joined by his wife and baby, who went there from Winthrop. They immediately left for Canada.

Before she left Boston, however, Mrs. Keliher talked with counsel and it was said to-day that this counsel advised her to induce her husband to return and either deny the charges against him or make such restoration as he could to the receiver of the bank. While he was in Canada Keliher communicated with friends with the result that he, his wife and child returned to New York Monday.

Federal Case Postponed.

Ex-Governor Bates has no connection with the criminal end of the bank looting his sole duty being to protect the interests of the bank's creditors and stockholders. He could not offer immunity, if he would, but would naturally use all possible means at his command to secure what he could for the bank.

Keliher, however, got the idea to return to Boston simultaneously with the postponement of the National City Bank case before the Federal Grand Jury and at the time when it was declared that the Grand Jury would be asked to indict members of the "Bunco Syndicate" in connection with Coleman and his chum, William W. Lockhart, for the wrecking of the National City Bank.

The fine swindlers feared a prosecution more than they do the efforts of District Attorney Pelletier to indict them for the Coleman case and other Boston swindles on the charge of conspiracy to defraud.

The Federal statute covering the misapplication of the funds of a National bank is so broad that it could be shown that members of the gang received part of the proceeds of the bank frauds, knowing that the money came from the bank, they could be indicted. The penalty is from five to ten years' imprisonment.

From the Federal building, however, it was learned to-day that although Coleman told United States District Attorney French where the money went, Coleman's own evidence would likely be necessary to convict members of the gang. But it was denied that any immunity had been offered to the swindlers.

Bill" Keliher when asked at his residence at Brighton early to-day if Keliher was at his house, answered:

"No."

Mr Coakley said:

"If the State or Federal authorities want Mr. Keliher, he will be produced immediately upon my knowledge that they want him."

Mr. Coakley refused to say anything more.

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

HOT SPRINGS, March 46.—The fifteen game series between the Boston Americans and the Cincinnati Nationals begins this afternoon. Neither team is really in condition to play at anywhere near top speed, but as has been repeatedly said in these despatches, the contests are for practice and not for blood.

Manager Donovan gave the writer the lineup but he said it was only tentative. It is possible that Jake Stahl, Charley Wagner and Amby McConnell may not play at all, in which case their places will be taken by Bradley on first, French on second and Gardner at shortstop.

Stahl got a furious workout yesterday and was quite sore and lame when he reported to the manager this morning. Whether he will be permitted to cover the bag this afternoon depends on how he feels after the morning practice.

McConnell will probably play part of the game, with French on hand ready to fill in when called upon. As for Wagner he wants to play, but Donovan fears that he will try to do too much in the game and throw his arm off. In order to be on the safe side the Red Sox manager may put Larry Gardner at short stop.

Stahl got a fearless workout yesterday and was quite sore and lame when he reported to the manager this morning. Whether he will be permitted to cover the bag this afternoon depends on how he feels after the morning practice.

McConnell will probably play part of the game, with French on hand ready to fill in when called upon. As for Wagner he wants to play, but Donovan fears that he will try to do too much in the game and throw his arm off. In order to be on the safe side the Red Sox manager may put Larry Gardner at short stop.

Hoblitzel, the first baseman, who has been troubled with a bad knee, is also in condition to play and will probably be in the game.

Griffith has an epidemic of fatalities in his camp. Pitcher Speas and Infielders Charles and Downey are ill in bed and none of these will be in today's lineup. Downey's place will be taken by Hosp, a pitcher that Griff is trying to make an infielder of.

Griff reported today that his pitchers were weak. None of them has a sore arm, but the baths have been taking them short out of them and they are not able to put much stuff on the ball.

The Red Sox new artists are not Ramsons by any means, but they have not complained of weakness. Donovan will send Pape, Smith and Barberich in to do the heavy work today, his plan being to work each man three innings.

Madden to Catch.

Tommy Madden will have to do all the catching for awhile, as Pat Donahue, upon whom the manager was relying, developed a sore wing after practice yesterday. He will not be allowed to take any chances. It will be a fine chance for Madden to show Donovan what he can do. He had very little work during the last half of last year, Bill Carrigan and Donahue monopolizing things up to the last month of the season.

Tommy is in great shape and is whipping the ball down to second in mid-season style. He should overcome his difficulty with foul flies he would be one of the most valuable catchers in the business, but Manager Donovan cannot afford to take a chance with a man who has not mastered the foul fly proposition.

The surprise of the last practice was the work of Buriel Jack Thoney, the man who broke his shoulder five weeks ago. He covered left field for the Yanniguns and the way he threw filled his team mates with wonder and his manager with consternation. He pegged the ball into the plate from deep left field and showed more power in his throws than any member of the team ever saw him show before. It was his first time out this year, as on Monday he did not put on a uniform but contented himself with coaching first base on the side lines in citizens' clothes. Yesterday he put on a suit and insisted on joining the Yannigans. At bat he line-ked out a couple of hits and the way he got around the bases was a caution. If Thoney will only go slow and not try to do too much, there seems to be no doubt that he will round to in old-time form.

An Outfield Problem.

Manager Donovan will have a problem on his hands. Duffy Lewis is showing up so surprisingly well that he will have to be taken care of, with Speaker, Niles, Hooper, Thoney and Lewis, to say nothing of Hap Myers, fighting for outfield positions it is a race to beat the Devil. Of course Speaker is sure of his job, no matter, but there will be a fight for first, with Lewis-jacks to fill the other outfield positions.

Duffy Lewis, in addition to giving a remarkable exhibition of fielding in the last practice, he showed up in the game between the Regulars and the Yannigans that there are few players who have more use for him when it comes to batting. He had two chances and he laid them down in the right spot in just the right time and place. He won't say much for himself as a supposition either, but good fast ones. He is a right hand batter but can place the bunts either to the left or right, judging by the outfield he handles the grounders that come his way play after play. Thus he saves a lot of time when time is something very valuable. There can be no doubt that he will round to in old-time form.

Yanigans Get Trimmed.

The Regulars had a field day at time of their lives to beat out the Yanigans to the second step between the picked squads and it was not till the last inning that the first team was able to pull the contest out of the fire by the score of 5 to 3.

It was the slam made by Hall in the seventh that did the business, when the bases were all populated. He hit the pigskin on the nose and sent it whizzing over Butler Jack Thoney's head in left, scoring, up the sacks and crediting himself with a three bagger.

The tallies put the Regulars in the lead by a run and Hall scoring a minute later gave the Regulars their final result.

Manager Donovan has decided that seven innings were enough for the clash and there by no telling what would have happened in the last two periods.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES.

Bradley, Gardner, Thoney and Pat Donahue formed a quartet and they entertain the other fellows with all the popular songs on the way to the field in the morning.

Hugh Bradley, the treasurer of the club, took off ten pounds as a starter by going on an early morning breakfast club followed after breakfast by a five-mile hike. He is also taking boxing lessons as well.

Lumber for a new stand on the third base side of the grounds was hauled to the park yesterday. In the course of a few days, the contractor says.

Dolly Gray is very sure of starting off with a victory today. He says his pitchers are weak and will not be allowed to pitch more than three innings.

Donovan says he thinks Hap Myers, the recognized outfielder, will be the best pinch hitter and fastest runner in baseball. The tall fielder has to do a lot to prove wrong, as the issues like a streak.

It was the Red Sox turn to take morning practice today. The Cincinnatis will take their turn later before the game. Whether the other fellows have the morning best, Carrigan got to the park at the end of the last stage of Joe Wood, Collins, Hall and Kaufer for about two hours today, and says there is no sense in his body but that his legs are mighty tired.

Life and Battles of Jim Jeffries---No. 2

JEFF AT THE AGE OF 13 WITH HIS THREE BROTHERS.

By TAD.

The little town of Carroll, O., last track of the Jeffries family early in the eighties. The Rev. Mr. Jeffries, with his four sons and two daughters, started for the Golden West to retrieve in the undeveloped country of the Pacific the promises of success which had been untimely nipped in the Buckeye State.

Rev. Mr. Jeffries had dreams of life on a big ranch where he could enjoy all the freedom of outdoor life and at the same time give healthful employment to four of his husky sons. Jim, as a boy, was very fond of horses. He traded knives and marbles and tops for anything that looked like harness. He carried little cowhide whip in his pocket even when he went to school and at home under the bed had a collection of stirrups, spurs and saddles. His idea that would have made the collection of the world's famous jockey look like a sulking plater left at the post by a stake horse.

Jim and his pal, Billy Harris, spent all their time between the close of school and supper making new mile records around the vacant lots. Up to the age of sixteen Jim was a bear with the nags. He grew so rapidly in the next few years that no horse in Los Angeles could carry him and make anything like a showing at a time. He didn't like the idea of following in his father's footsteps, as he had no inclination to expound the Gospel, and for a time his fond parent despaired that he would ever amount to anything worth mentioning.

Finally it was decided that Jim should try his luck as a boilermaker, and he was forthwith installed in one of the large establishments near his home town. It was here, with the hammer and sledge, pounding away at the big nuts which riveted the masses of sheetiron together, that he developed the marvelous strength which afterwards made him the wonder of the fight world. Little did he dream that during these days of incessant toil that he was doing the very thing which would win for him the world's heavyweight championship in after years. Bob Fitzsimmons, that other great marvel of the ring, had a like experience in his work at the forge, and in this way developed his wonderful punch.

DOVES ARRIVE THIS NOON AT TRAINING CAMP

By W. H. ROSS.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 16.—The Doves from Boston are nearing the trailer ing grounds at Augusta, Ga., and will be there by noon today at the latest, according to present prospects on the trains. It is a race between the party from Boston and the Western contingent, headed by President John S. C. Dovey.

He left Boston in advance last week to round up all his men who hibernate West of the Alleghanies and started from Cincinnati for Augusta with most of the men who have signed Boston National League Club contracts on Monday evening last. His crowd had three and a half hours start on the Columbia brigade and is due Augusta an hour ahead of the rest Bostonians.

It is a toss-up, however, as to which train will lose the most time on such a long run and the manager hopes to land out the pennant in the first sprint of the season.

Ferguson Held Out.

All the western detachment had the Hotel Havlin in Cincinnati for a rendezvous and the big and genial Boston magnate was the center of a big throng that when they got off the train. Beals Becker had the longest jump. He came all the way from Wichita, Kansas, where he has put in the off season hunting and driving automobiles.

Ferguson, who was holding out until President Dovey got West, signed up before the Boston delegation left Boston. What made Cy so slow about getting on the payroll is something which has not been learned. This will be Dovey's last will find himself in a coterie of very promising youngsters and he reaches the camp and it will be up to him to get better control of the ball than he has shown on most occasions since Mr. McGraw of New York swapped him off.

Lake Dictates Plans.

"There will be nothing doing in the baseball line to-day," said Lake, when he tried to figure out how soon the team would leave Augusta. "I'm going to straighten out some business matters today and go out and watch the ball park over. But to-morrow morning there will be an early call, and everybody will have to get right down to business. Of course, we will have a few days' work for a week or two, for I don't want to have the men at the start, but I see nothing right it ought not to take them long to get into shape to cut loose and then we'll see what we can do towards turning out a ball club.

"There are many arrangements about playing the Augusta club a game or two, but I will look after that later. I have challenged the New York Highlanders for a game in Columbia on Saturday, March 30, but I haven't anything from Stallings. He can be found in Georgia and it would be about as well to have the game there as in Augusta, and I think the two teams ought to be an attraction that will draw well there on a Saturday.

"We will start work to-morrow and will have thirteen days in which to get in shape, not counting the two Sundays we'll put in at Augusta. If the weather is what it should be we ought to be all right by the time we need to get the team going right. We will have the men out in uniform every morning and afternoon sessions, and of course the weather won't interfere in the afternoon. After we leave Augusta we will have fifteen exhibition games ahead of us before the league season opens, which ought to be fine enough to get any ball club into shape.

LANGFORD MADE 10 TO 6 PICK OVER FLYNN

By H. M. WALKER.

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Jim Flynn under the ring at Vernon against Mark Sammy Langford, to-morrow afternoon, carrying with him the good wishes of eight out of every ten men seated inside the pavilion, but this is as far as the Fighting Fireman will be allowed to enjoy the support of the public. The early indications at the betting stands are that the big white boy will receive practically no financial backing.

The odds now being quoted are 10 to 6 on Langford to win. These figures are for ornamental purposes only, though, as the Langford men will be glad to get their coin covered at the rate of 2 to 1. It is more than probable that the wagers will be a 10 to 4 favorite before ring time. A few scattering bets have been made at even money on Flynn to stay fifteen rounds.

All in all the big white scrapper Flynn is placing himself in superb physical condition for the long route engagement. His work at Hoyle's during the past ten days has been along the most exacting lines. Langford is very lukewarm at Arcadia and the fact that Trainer George Byers was finished from the start in the Exeter Road to take charge of the Langford camp shows that the Negro is alive to a sincere respect for Flynn.

Flynn's victory over Langford at Naud Junction was a decisive one and was confirming to any fair-minded boxing fan. Before the race of the present betting situation it would appear that the public is backing out this showing entirely.

The feeling is that Langford held Flynn so cheaply that he did not train properly, with the result that he was literally fought off his feet by the Pueblo plodder. Had he trained to make the one extreme effort of his life.

One thing sure, this fight gave Flynn a world confidence. "I'll either win my Langford or make him quit," is the positive asserting heard in Jim's camp every day.

READY ANY DAY FOR LANGFORD, SAYS KETCHEL

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 16.—"I will be ready to fight Langford any day he is willing," said Stanley Ketchel, as he left here for Pittsburg, whither he is bound to-day to meet Frank Klaus on March 23. As the result of the match, Ketchel says he would never attempt to regain the laurels lost to Jack Johnson, but will be ready to fight every week," he said, "and no matter who it is I will be just as ready for Johnson and Papke. Hereafter they must be at 158½ pounds."

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 16.—President John S. Dovey's squad of Boston National League players have arrived in Augusta for their Spring training. The remaining members are expected to-day, coming in on the Pullman from Columbia.

Those who came were Pitchers Cecil Ferguson, Charles Dave Pape, Charles Forest Moore and Charles Curtis, Catchers Hugh Bradley and William Madden, Infielders Harry Smith, Infielders Fred Beck, Gus Dugas and William Rariden, Outfielders Beals, Becker and Fred Liese.

DELMONT GIVEN DRAW IN ONE-SIDED FIGHT

WALSH HANDED RAW DECISION

Jimmy Walsh certainly got the worst end of the draw decision in his eight-round bout with Albert Delmont at the Armory A. A. last night and the fight fans are wondering what kind of eyesight Referee Charley Galvin is using in giving a one-sided match an even break when Walsh won with plenty to spare.

After rendering three fair decisions the referee spoiled his good record by falling down in picking a winner in the windup bout which held a lot of local interest as both boys were rated at the top of their class and intense rivalry exists between the partisans of Walsh, a Brighton product, and those over the verdict and had a right to be.

Walsh was slow in getting into his stride, but once hitting his proper pace he began to show his real class and was the master in every round and flashed up tearing into his foe, throwing caution to the winds in his desire to make the award sure in his favor. The fight was fast from start to finish and when the ring judge called the result a draw was only natural.

Walsh Tincanned.

There was only one feature that counted against Walsh while he battled. He tinned. Boy carried out the Dartmouth street, and two police officials, well known relating of scoring before Delmont could land.

He held to fancy stepping till the last rounds, keeping out of Delmont's range easily as the little Italian fighter patiently followed him but he nearly ran into some trouble for himself in the last round when he cut loose and ran into some of Delmont's hard right punches which made him take notice, but never stopped him from piling in again.

Delmont showed better in both ends of the bout. He started away fast and for a couple of rounds it looked like a slugfest in picking the winner as Walsh was a target for some swift, straight lefts and his head and locked up tightly as Delmont closed in on him.

Walsh managed to get some inspiration from his corps and was due to be found when the third round was on exhibition to watch for the kind Walsh had on exhibition with his lightning footwork and tantalizing jabs.

Walsh simply played on Delmont with his left hand, never letting any chances for him mixing same, but he inflicted enough severe punishment to the Italian to have seemed to want to give Delmont's right a wide berth and kept his own boxtied up. It was a great display of ring science, but made the bout tamer than it otherwise would have been had he been more willing to win decisively.

There was a small chance for Delmont to get home a solid punch, as Walsh's slipperiness in pulling out of tight places spurred all the Italian's desperate rushes to get in close to carry his foe. He got over some stiff ones in the final period when Walsh was coming in.

Walsh's prospects were so well liked that he was installed a 2 to 1 favorite and there was little backing for Delmont.

Perron Fought Well.

There was a bit of a surprise when Tommy O'Keefe, the peerless Quincy lightweight, bust managed to squeeze out a decision against Frank Perron, the Fawkner Parkian, at the end of eight rounds. O'Keefe had walked through his opponents with ease in former bouts but Perron was all kinds of sympathy offered to Perron, who might have got a draw had he used more judgment in his style of mulling. He tried to outbox the shifty, peppery Quinker and was being beaten up till he brought his wicked work and in order brought his extra weight in to hurt at the right moment to carry the fight. He started his belligerent methods too late in the encounter to sway the judges and O'Keefe had gained on him from the breakaway.

Perron took so many slams in the body from O'Keefe's well-aimed left hand that he appeared a bit weary before the journey was half over, but he got together during the drubbing and the strenuous way he battled in the closing rounds, which earned him favorable comment if it didn't disturb O'Keefe's ma.

Dixie Kid Loses.

The decks were cleared for two husky fighters in Kyle Whitney of California and the Dixie Kid from Dixie Land, and they did everything but bite and kick for eight rounds. As a rough house burlesque on the Queensberry sport the bout was a screamer, as they bounced all over the canvas into the ropes and did all kinds of noble fighting that drove the fans into spasms of hilarious laughter.

It got to be such a free for all mix-up without much real finesse that the referee had to whisper a few words of warning at different stages.

Whitney went down for the count in the second round from a combo of left hooks to the jaw, but he came back and got the pace for the rest of the mill, while the veteran Dixie Kid began to show signs of weariness and was tiring fast when the final bell came. Whitney was handed the award.

The most popular prize winner was Kid Sica of Augusta, who was formerly Colored Metlowun, the amateur lightweight champion, when he beat Tommy Loughen of Philadelphia after eight sessions of hot mixing. It was Loughen's first appearance of several years, and he was slated to give Sica a close argument. He did, as he always had a dangerous right hand punch which was made useless by the way Sica pumped straight lefts into his opponent's face.

BIG TRACK MEET FOR HYDE PARK

The big athletic meet that is to be held under the auspices of the physical department of the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A., will be held on the grounds of the Y. M. C. A. in town. The games are under the sanction of the Amateur Athletic League of America, and are open to any amateur in Hyde Park. The events consists of running high jump, fifteen yard dash, shot put, three standing broad jumps, eight potato races, and two one-mile relay races.

In the relay races much interest is being taken by the various clubs, as the team in Hyde Park will compete for honors. The Edmund A. C. team will run against the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. team and both are confident of winning. Two class teams but at Brown's gymnasium. Foley used a hard right wallop to the jaw and a stiff left jab with telling effect. Both were willing hard at the bell. The bout was without knockdowns.

FOLEY BEAT JOE HYLAND

NEW YORK, March 16.—Tommy Foley defeated Joe Hyland by his aggressive work and stiff punching in their ten-round bout at Brown's gymnasium. Foley used a hard right wallop to the jaw and a stiff left jab with telling effect. Both were willing hard at the bell. The bout was without knockdowns.

TEX RICKARD TO BE SUED

SALT LAKE, March 16.—There is more trouble ahead for Tex Rickard and Jack Gleason, promoters of the Jeff-Johnson fight. Suit for damages will be entered against Rickard will be brought by Joseph Nelson, president of the Salt Air Beach Company with which Rickard contracted to stage the bout. He said to-day:

"We have Rickard's agreement to deliver the fight here," said Nelson. "He entered into a contract to stage the bout at Salt Air and we will hold him to that agreement as it was entered into in good faith on our part and we thought Rickard meant business. He will be called upon the stand in his written agreement. We will hold out for our claims and if the Salt Air is found to be disappointed it must have convincing reasons therefore."

TAIT MAKES RECORD AND BEATS BONHAG

NEW YORK, March 16.—John Tait of Toronto, Canada's champion amateur distance runner, defeated George Bonhag, America's champion and record holder, in a one and one-half mile match race at the New York A. C. games at Madison Square Garden, and in doing so smashed the American indoor record, held by Bonhag, by five seconds. Tait's time was six minutes and fifty two seconds.

The Toronto quarter furnished a big surprise. In every relay except the last the visitors obtain clear advantages, and Tait was compelled to run his mightiest in order to win.

MURPHY WANTS A BRONX CLUB

Last night President Lawson of the new U. S. Baseball League of the club for a complete tour of the new circuit. "Hoss" Murphy of Tammany in New York wires Lawson that he wanted a club of the league to play this season on the Bronx.

Possibly, after a conference to-day, President Lawson may switch the Patergon, N. J., club to the Bronx, as there is a vacant Sunday district for the national sport, and the league still would have two strong cities in Jersey.

Every other city in the circuit is hustling hard to sign up a club that will beat out Boston, but the Hub club will go after the pennant from the push.

Blocks of stock in the new league were taken heavily by "tic" Rue, owner of a big Rock Bay carriage factory in Dartmouth street, and two police officials, well known relating of scoring before Delmont could land.

League headquarters in the Plymouth building. No. 110 State street, city, will be in charge of Vice-President J. W. Gaffney, owner of the Boston club, and Treasurer Frank Sheffield, who holds the Providence franchise, until President Lawson returns after his circuit circle inside ten days.

CATCHER SULLIVAN'S PLAYING DAYS OVER

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Billy Sullivan's playing days are over. This statement is made by Jack Ryan, the catcher for the Chicago White Sox showed to-day that the condition of last year's manager of Comiskey's club is much worse than what has been supposed as a result of his having scraped his foot with a rusty nail at the Chute Park Saturday.

One report was current early to-day that an operation had already been performed and that another would be necessary as a result of lockjaw developing from blood poisoning. Sullivan's brother Jeremiah is with him.

The patient is under the care of a nurse and a physician at the Elks Club, and the details of the case are guarded very closely.

Mrs. Sullivan, who was formerly Miss Nurse and was formerly a big actress in Chicago, married Sullivan, a wedding here from Chicago.

CHAMP HUESTON WINS OVER EAMES

DENVER, March 16.—Tommy Hueston took a strong lead over Fred Eames in the second night's play for the world's championship at three-cushion billiards. Hueston made 50 while Eames was making 38. The score now stands 100 to 88 in favor of Hueston.

The play was exceedingly slow, requiring 93 innings to complete the block. Eames did not score until the twelfth inning. Hueston's high run was 8 and Eames' 3.

THE LAW OF AVERAGES

is strongly illustrated in custom tailoring—for he who attempts to produce custom made suits or overcoats FOR LESS THAN $20 simply disobeys the law of averages—FALLS DOWN on some of the essential details to the perfect garment or LOSES MONEY!. You can be sure it is not the latter. Experience teaches that the tailor who takes your order for a less than $20 suit or overcoat deliberately slights some part or parts in the making. The Newman-made $20 standard, which others find difficult to duplicate at $30, is based on the law of averages—You get all the handwork that there should be—that collar that hugs the neck—that coat front that is flexible, yet never curls or breaks, and those lapels that lay perfectly, etc., etc.

AUTO TOUR MAY BE ARRANGED IN THE EAST

By J. C. KERRISON.

With the bolding of the annual endurance contest of the A. A. A. in the South this year, the far East and West is left without any one big touring event, and yet it would seem as both these sections could maintain a run of consequence. The annual tour is to be held in June, and it would be possible to hold a big run in the East the latter part of July or the first of August. The contest board of the A. A. A. might well consider this phase of affairs and in the wisest way determine to hold an event of importance in either or both of these sections. It would not be necessary for the board to do all the work, rather it would select some representative A. A. A. club in Philadelphia, New York or Boston and make arrangements whereby the club officers would arrange and handle a tour of at least two weeks' duration, which term could be made of the pleasantest such event of a tour which is held for the sole purpose of testing the mechanical efficiency of the motor vehicle.

Some three years ago the Bay State Automobile Association held a tour for members and friends, which proved to be one of the most enjoyable events in the history of local touring, principally because it did those who enjoy touring for touring sakes and who can, as they desire, without any regard to set schedule or any penalties, the idea to tour as desire dictated, the evenings being spent at some one particular place.

The around-the-world Thomas car, the one that won the race from New York to Paris, is attracting no end of attraction during its trips around the city. This car created quite a sensation at the motor show last week, and since it is to remain here a few days Charles S. Fenner, the local agent, determined to show the car in action, hence it has been doing regular duty on the main thoroughfares of the city, and never fails to attract attention.

COFFROTH TO BUILD GREAT FIGHT ARENA

By TAD.

Jim Coffroth, the Frisco fight promoter, is about to erect the world's largest pavilion right in the heart of San Francisco. The red-headed Western bear cat has just closed a lease on a plot of ground taking a whole square block at the corner of Twelfth and Market streets.

Now that he is back in San Francisco and prickly heat no longer fiddles to wilt certainly make things hum, as he did at Colma. With his gigantic building he will be in San Francisco what Pat Powers and H. Connolly Pollok are to New York.

Coffroth was barred from San Francisco some years ago through a political fight, and now that the tide has turned and his old party is in power again, he naturally will bring the cream of the fight world to show at his house, and he won't stop at fights. It is his intention to run six-day bicycle races, Marathons, athletic meets, and, last, but not least, grand opera.

Yes, I guess he is going to be a regular Hammerstein. Coffroth originally held the lease on Hengler's Pavilion, and nothing of importance was cum off which required a proper building. Silver Coffroth had a finger in the pie.

If Coffroth sticks to his plans which he had in mind when he was in New York, and he very long before San Francisco will be looking in on indoor forty-five-round fights.

Coffroth contends that there is nothing in the Golden Gate law quibbling right of that length. The only thing in the law that would limit the length of a bout is that it be of limited duration. Coffroth says that he will open upon twenty rounds when they jumped gradually from four rounds after the original had been applied to boxing in California.

STRAIGHT DOPE FOR SPORT FANS

NOW GET BUSY, ALL YOU KICKERS, and tell me that the days I gave you on those Armory bouts was rotten. I gave you a chance you won't overlook, by trying to pick the winner in each of the four. The dope on the first two bouts was very much—couldn't be worse—but I had you nailed to the mast on the two most important bouts, O'Keefe won, and Walsh won. The referee called the Walsh bout a draw, but as I'm our responsible for Martin Flaherty's mental aberration, I'm right here to tell you that Walsh won by about three-quarters of a mile. Maffitt is a corking good referee, but he was very much to the bad on that decision.

TOMMY O'KEEFE IS THE BEST LIGHT-weight seen in Boston in years, and he clearly demonstrated this last night when he defeated Frank Perron, who is a good heavy welter. This is the second time the Philadelphia boy has given away from ten to fifteen pounds here and he has made good in impressive style each time. His manager, Billy Reynolds, declared last night that he had proved O'Keefe's class by taking on boys of any weight, and that now he would keep him in the lightweight class, where he properly belongs. If Reynolds talks to this, there are plenty of Boston fight fans who will string along with O'Keefe against any boy in the country.

THE RED SOX PLAY THE FIRST real ball game of the season this afternoon when they tackle the Cincinnati Reds. It's always there with anything that is real sport news.

SAM LANGFORD AND JIM FLYNN hook up to-morrow in their forty-five round bout. The latest from the Coast is that Langford will be a 10 to 4 favorite. Evidently the California sports did not take Sam's last effort against Flynn very seriously, if you are betting set in the works of Langford.

Bravely Down Life's Stream

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

I AM a river, flowing from God's sea
Through devious ways. He mapped my course for me,
I cannot change it; mine alone the toil
To keep the waters free from grime and soil.
The winding river ends where it began,
And when my life has compassed its brief span
I must return to that mysterious Source.
So let me gather daily in my course
The perfume from the blossoms as I pass,
Balm from the pines and healing from the grass,
And carry down my currents as I go.
Not common stones, but precious gems to show,
And tears—(the holy water from sad eyes).
Back to God's sea, from which all rivers rise.
Let me convey not blood from wounded hearts,
Nor poison which the upas tree imparts.
When over flowery vales I leap with joy,
Let me not devastate them nor destroy,
But rather leave them fairer to the sight.
Mine be the lot to comfort and delight.
And if down awful chasms I must leap,
Let me not murmur at my lot, but sweep
On bravely to the end without one fear,
Knowing that He who planned my ways stands near.
Love sent me forth, to Love I go again;
For Love is all, and over all. Amen.

A Prima Donna's Views

Miss Alice Nielsen Writes of Her Experiences and Observations

MISS ALICE NIELSEN, the beautiful and accomplished prima donna soprano of the Boston Opera House, has written for the BOSTON AMERICAN a series of articles discussing the musical future of America and the work of the American girl who determines to become an opera singer.

Miss Nielsen knows every phase of the situation confronting such a young woman, since she fought her way to the front rank of the world's great singers. Too many years Miss Nielsen was known as the "queen of comic opera," but her love of the art of music was so great that she resigned an assured career to take up the more precarious one of grand opera.

In her first article Miss Nielsen discusses the equipment necessary for success in grand opera.

By Alice Nielsen

THE greatest immediate problem in building the foundations of our future prestige in opera is the preparation of our young singers for the career, and more particularly of this that I wish to speak. It is true that many of them are succeeding in foreign theatres, but where one succeeds, a thousand have failed. They have gone ill-prepared. They neither realized what was required nor did they know whether they could meet those requirements.

That is the first thing it would seem to me that a student of opera should learn what is to be required of her or of him. It appears to be a question that none of them grapple with. If a boy is going into a profession, we have colleges and professors whose business and function it is to acquaint him with what is essential to his career, and to enable him to meet such requirements. Too often a young woman with no truer warrant for her belief in her power than the assurance of well-meaning friends, that she has a fine voice, a pretty voice, just starts out and thinks she will be an opera singer. She has not taken an inventory of her qualifications to become an artist.

A singer cannot buy the mechanical part of her equipment, as can the violinist or the pianist. She must reckon with an instrument which is of herself, which cannot be played upon except the whole body is in tune. The first item to consider is physique. By that I mean settled health, power of endurance, good control of all forces and balance of disposition. When one has added the time for dressing to a one and a half hours required for the fifth act of Tristan, during much of which Isolde is singing, it is apparent that great opera demands great endurance of a girl. This foundation is of absolute necessity. Its lack precludes success whatever else there may be to command.

Of course the voice counts next. Perfect voices are not rare, but the equipment behind the voice which goes to make up a singer is exceedingly rare.

The student's first and greatest asset is power of concentration. The word of advice to young people studying for a career in music is this: If you cannot concentrate, never try to become a public performer in any kind.

The second asset which is to be acquired only through the possession of the first, is musicianship. The day is passed when a girl may ever hope to be an artist by learning her roles note by note. If she has early the study of piano, for she is polyphonic and the foundation of musical expression. Let her study solfeggio until she is able to read music of ordinary difficulty at sight. If she has knowledge of harmony, of musical form and orchestral instruments, so much the better, for it will develop her mind, broaden her art and strengthen her confidence. It will serve her well in critical moments in opera, as for instance when up stage and away from a subdued orchestra, she will find a difficult knee less terrifying if she have musicianship as well as voice. Her ear must be keen, and her sense of tonality unerring.

Of course I need not say that if you are going to be a singer, nothing else counts—nothing—nothing. The moment that something else interferes between you and your art, you have lost the one idea which must be foremost and must so possess you that nothing else can come in; nothing must interfere.

To-morrow Miss Nielsen's article will discuss the perils encountered by the young American girl abroad, and the frauds who cheat young singers.

Mirandy on Kissing

"As Long as Our Husbands Take Any Interest in Kissing Us Dey Can Beat Us an' Starve Us."

By Dorothy Dix

Kissing makes many wives deaf and dumb.

"I BEEN listenin'," remarked Mirandy, "to what you read me 'bout de papers 'bout de man what klassed his wife five hundred times a day, an', my Lawd! dat's one our good luck in gettin' such a man. An' forderm'd, we goes about pityin' de po' unfortunate woman what's married to a husband what don't do nothin' but kiss an' spoon.

"Yassum, dey ain't nothin' you could tell dat man 'bout how to get round a woman an' wrop her round his finger. Yessum, he sho' is got his down fine.

"An' we women is all alike. As long as our husbands seem to take any interest in kissing us dey kin beat us, an' starve us, an' be as outrageous as dey 'spires to, and yet we's dat puffed up wid pride over de kiss dat we's a-titin' to have some mo' kisses, dat we'll stand anything else.

"Dat's de fuller rose of Texas, an' dat I gits younger an' sprier an' better lookin' ev'y year, fus' thing I knows I's a-singin' over my tubs an' a-t'inkin dat I sholy did draw de capital prize in de marriage lottery.

"Yassum, a woman may know all about de probounces of klasin', but a man can conjure her wid it des de same, an' a husband sholy does know his business when he don't spare dem on his wife.

"Hit's a lot easier to kiss her dan hit is to wuk an' buy her dresses an' shoes an' hats, an' of you want to keep a woman on'a an' satesfied an' peaceful, de kis will go furder dan de clo's, any day in de week. 'Cose a woman can always find plenty of odder women dat has got finer clo'es dan she is, but when hit comes to havin' a husband who's always honin' an' pinin' to kiss her, she can daunt herself. She's got mighty few rivals dere.

"Yassum, I sho' is suspicious 'bout a kisser, an' if I had a husband dat 'fused called on to sanitize me fibe hundred times a day you better believe dat I would cast my eye around to see what he went o' a-sevin' wires he said he was gwine out to set up wid a sick friend, or tend de pra'r meetin'.

"A Reason for de Kissin'"

"'Cose I ain't lookin' a gift kiss in de mouth, but I done took notice dat when hit takes like ten minutes to kiss me goodby, an' tell me how he hates to leave me, an' how much he rather stay home an' hold my hand dan answer de call of de night an' let in a nigger dat's so filled up wid tangle-foot dat he can't find de keyhole.

"Yassum, dat's de way hit goes, an' when he's dat affectionate dat I can't fry de po'k chops widout his stoppin' to kiss me ev'ry time he passes by de cook stove, I promotsicates dat he's been perambulatin' wid dat Mary Jane Jones an' he's afeared some of de sisters are goin' to drap in after supper, kinder casual like, an' tell me.

"An', moreover, when Ike comes home an' puts his arm around me an' tells me what a good wife I's been to him an' how I's helped him along, an' how he never could have got along widout me, 'speciance has done told me dat I's got to rastle around an' find de rent money, 'cuz Ike has done dropped his week's wages on some sort of foolishness.

"An' Ike, he's des lak de balance of de husbands. He done found out dat of you want to blind a woman's eyes, de easiest way is to kiss 'em shut, an' dat of you want to stop a woman's mouth, de quickest way is to kiss hit shut. I've seen one kiss turn a woman blind as a bat, an' give her de lockjaw.

"An' de men ain't de only ones dat know how to play de kissin' game. Whenever I see one of dese hesh little sick kitten women whut's always hangin' around her husband's neck, an' has to follow him three block down de street of a mornin' when he starts to wuk befo' she can make up her mind to part wid him for de day, I'se willin' to bet dat he's got holes in his socks an' dat he had to git up an' get his own breakfast while she laid in de bed an' told him how she loved him.

"Yassum, kisses an' words—dey's easy. An' wukkin' for a possun an' makin' 'em comfortable—dat's hard. Which is de reason dat when a girl flirts with a married man, simply through a spirit of careless mischief. She does not stop to think that some other woman is suffering intensely as the result of her mischief.

It Is All Wrong, Girls

It is all wrong, girls, and you must judge from a personal standpoint. How would you feel if you were in that woman's place?

You can't marry the man; you don't even love him. You may feel a certain infatuation; but that is all.

And the man is not in love with you; remember that. He is attracted by your youth and the fact that you allow him to be rather familiar. When he tires of you, he'll flirt with some other girl.

Viewed from a purely worldly point, to flirt with a married man is madness. It runs a great chances of marrying well, for eligible men fight shy of her.

Many a girl has remained unmarried because she wasted the best years of her life in flirtations with married men.

If you stole a woman's hat you would perhaps go to prison for it. How about stealing her husband? That is ten thousand times more serious.

Leave Married Men Alone

Get a young husband of your own, if you can, and leave other women's husbands alone.

In every household there should be a "Keep Off the Grass" sign, and it should apply to women and girls who come stealing and marring the happiness of the home.

It is easy to flutter a man, to make him imagine that he is not appreciated at home. He usually gets all the appreciation he deserves; so don't get the idea that you are his soulmate or any foolishness of that kind.

If he needs reforming, let his wife attend to it; that's her business, and not yours.

Mirandy is gettin' wise to Ike's kissin' game.

TO-DAY'S BEST STORY

FOR several weeks little Ralph, a Cleveland boy—according to the Leader of that city—had enjoyed the use of a Shetland pony, the property of the family. But, much to Ralph's sorrow, there came a day recently when the pony was sold, and his delightful rides came to a sudden end. The purchaser, as Ralph found out by inquiry, was a little girl of about his own mature age. Ever since his acquaintance with the pony began Ralph had indulged him in his bedtime prayer, and "God bless the pony" was an earnest nightly petition. The first evening after the sale of the pony Ralph hesitated when he reached his pet's place in the prayer. Then, after a moment's thought, he continued: "Please, God, bless the pony just the same; but, God, don't bless the little girl what's got the pony."

His Foresight Was Wasted

By KENNETT HARRIS

WHEN I was young and fancy free, I very often said,
A clinging, timid girl for me, if I'm induced to wed.
I want no maiden with a poke to grace a home of mine;
I must impersonate the oak and she must be the vine.

And so I shook the Shes that shone among gymnastic stars
And exercised in bloomers on the horizontal bars.
I dropped the boxing, fencing lass as though she were red hot,
And from the fancy sewing class I picked the one I've got.

She couldn't ride or row or run, she'd not a notion how
To climb a tree or shoot a gun. She couldn't face a cow.
She trembled at the thunder's peal and clung to me in fright.
And so I couldn't help but feel that she would be all right.

I sometimes find I'm wishing now I had a bovine form.
But I, alas! am not a cow nor yet a thunder storm.
I'm not a green striped garter snake, a spider or a mouse,
And so for peace and quiet's sake, I let her run the house.

So if you love a damsel brisk who sprints around a track
And throws the hammer and the disc, don't let that hold you back.
Her energies may not be checked by manly force, but then
Some roosters may be badly pecked by any kind of hen.

Other Women's Husbands

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THE unmarried woman is at liberty to set her cap at the unmarried man, if she so desires.

It is not a very praiseworthy proceeding, but if she chooses to appear as a husband hunter she hurts no one but herself.

But she is out at liberty to interfere with the married man, or to accept attentions from him. He belongs to another woman.

With some women the mere fact that a man does belong to another woman adds immensely to his value in their eyes.

They consider it a victory to win him. It is a sorry sort of victory to defraud a woman and children of the love and support which is theirs by right. It is not always the unmarried women who steal other women's husbands.

Married Women Often at Fault

Sometimes a married woman gets tired of her own husband and thinks she would like to flirt with some other woman's husband.

She compares her husband with other men and concludes that he does not pay her enough attention, does not flatter her enough or spend enough money in her entertainment.

The fact that her own husband does not please her, however, does not justify her in allowing some other man to spend money on her.

If she has made a bad bargain, it is not fair that another woman should suffer by it.

The woman who sits by and tamely allows another woman to wreck her home and happiness is very foolish. She has absolute right to fight for her own and her children's welfare, with every weapon at her command.

Sometimes a married man, who is married to a woman who does not understand him, who has nothing in common with him, who is bored to death by her society, who is starved for companionship, finds it impossible to resist the temptation to seek the society of a woman who is congenial, who is sympathetic, who understands him.

Such a man is to be pitied, and such a woman is to be forgiven.

It Is All Wrong, Girls

It is all wrong, girls, and you must judge from a personal standpoint. How would you feel if you were in that woman's place?

GOOD-BYE TO SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

A Lady Will Send Free to Any Sufferer the Secret Which Cured Her.

Since a child I was distressed and humiliated by an unwelcome growth of hair on my face and arms. I tried all the depilatories, powders, liquids, creams and other rub-on preparations I ever heard of, only to make it worse. For weeks I suffered the electric needle without being rid of my blemish. I spent a great deal of money on various things in vain, until a friend recommended a simple preparation which succeeded where all else failed.

This simple remedy, a harmless, colorless liquid, enabled me permanently to find entire relief from all trace of unwelcome hair, and forever end my embarrassment. It is simple, safe, sure, and can be used privately at home, without fear of pain or blemish. It makes the electric needle entirely unnecessary.

I will tell in detail full particulars to enable any other sufferer to achieve the same happy results as I did privately at home. All I ask is a two-cent stamp for reply. Address CAROLINE OSGOOD, 113 C Old P. O. St., Providence, R. I.

The Bill Clerk Gets a Tip on Spring's Advent

By KENNETT HARRIS

"IT'S a regular Spring morning, isn't it?" remarked the bill clerk, as he turned the steam off at the radiator.

"You seem to be under that impression," answered the cashier. "Nevertheless, it is not a Spring morning. It is undeniably warmer than yesterday, but that doesn't make it Spring any more than one swallow makes a Summer drink. Spring is still some weeks or months ahead of us, my young friend."

"I heard a fellow say he saw a robin the other morning," declared the bill clerk. "If that isn't a sign of Spring, what is?"

"There are several more reliable than that," replied the cashier. "That is merely a sign that a fellow's imagination is stronger than his eyesight. I've known of fellows saying they saw elephants and boa constrictors as far north of the torrid zone as St. Paul, Minn., but they couldn't make the attendants believe it. You've got to bring stronger evidence than that, or else turn that steam on again."

"Suppose I told you that my fancy was lightly turning to thoughts of love," suggested the bill clerk.

What Johnny Would Do in Spring

"I would take that as an indication that it wasn't much past mid-Winter," returned the cashier. "I know you too well, Johnny. If Spring was close at hand, you wouldn't have any time for the tender passion; you would be considering the Spring styles for men. Your errant fancy would be wandering to the haberdasher's display windows. You would be having thoughts of batwing neckties and covert cloth topcoats. You wouldn't day dream of dances fair; you'd speculate as to how much buttonhole iris would be permitted in the color scheme of waistcoats this year."

"Oh, would I?" said the bill clerk.

"Not would, gentle youth," replied the cashier, sr. "You would vex your soul concerning brass eyelets in russet shoes and the prevailing shade in suitings. Your mind would be troubled regarding hosiery and battery rather than amatory perplexities.

"No, son, when you begin to tell me your troubles with Phyllis and Chloe and the rest of 'em, I shall take the precaution of putting a cabbage leaf in my hat and urge upon our village nurses the necessity of enforcing the anti-sunning ordinance."

"Did you ever know me to have troubles with 'em?" asked the bill clerk, as he ran his fingers through his lustrous locks.

Takes a Strong Hint for Bill Clerk.

"No, I can't say that I have," admitted the cashier, "but then things that would trouble a sensitive nature don't affect you in the least. When a girl hands you your hat and asks you if you really have to go, you laugh heartily at the joke and stay an hour or two longer. You are one of the boys that refuse to be lost. A hint has to be half an inch thick by four wide, and applied with an initial velocity of one yard in one-fifteenth of a second before you'll take it. No, you wouldn't let a little thing like a girl worry you."

"What do you think it's Spring?" asked the bill clerk.

"Personally, I am apprised of its arrival when I suddenly wonder what my wife did with my fishing tackle," replied the cashier. "I keep it in a couple of old cigar boxes which the janitor conceals at the close of each season with an ingenuity that I admire but resent.

"But there are other signs that have got the robin and the warbler hopping, such as a frazzle, and the chorus and the lully failed and wilted. When the fishermen dealer rods and smiles pleasantly when you have the order, that's one sign.

"Another sign is displayed in the clothing store windows and reads, 'Overcoats reduced from $18 to $10.' When your friend says: 'I believe I'll take a tall lemonade,' you can be pretty sure that old Winter is beginning to see the impropriety of lingering where the poet says he does; and when you notice me carrying home a can of paint and a roll of wire screening, you can bet on it.

"Keep your eye on the advertisements in the newspapers and when you see umbrellas quoted at top prices and slaughter sales of ice mufla and waffle irons, you needn't go hunting for pussy willow or arbutus. Go along any of the side street and see if there aren't a lot of women airing on window sills, with their backs to the public, swabbing the panes. If you don't smell soapsuds, go back to your hole and stay there another forty days."

"Then you don't think the weather is going to last?" queried the bill clerk.

"I'm afraid it isn't," replied the cashier. "I confidently expect a succession of Autumn and Winter days, with a dash of Summer occasionally, to open the pores for the grip."

"How about a few Spring days?"

"When we get that sort of mixture we're getting Spring," said the cashier. "Now run along and turn that steam on and shut the window before the place gets filled with snow."

Society Goes to Europe and to the Country

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

IT would seem that with one accord society has taken wing and in a mass departed for other climes and we are really left quite destitute at home.

Mrs. Walter Channing, with her two handsome daughters, Miss Barbara and Rosalie, so instead of coming into town as usual this Winter, have remained at their Sherborne home throughout the season, are shortly sailing for an extended trip through Europe. They will later be joined by Dr. Channing.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Bennett and their oldest daughter are going over to New York on Friday and the following day Miss Bennett will sail with her grandmother for Europe, where they will remain until late Summer.

Among those about arriving on the other side are Professor and Mrs. William Gilson Farlow of Cambridge, the latter a daughter of the late Professor Horsford. Dr. and Mrs. Henry P. Jacques, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Brooks and their daughter, Miss Grace Brooks, and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Burr.

Among Bostonians at Jamaica are Mr. and Mrs. Grafton St. Leo Abbott of Concord, who have their automobile with them and are enjoying the delightful country thereabouts.

Miss Dorothy Jordan has joined her parents at Jamaica. Miss Jordan, by the way, is to be one of the solo dancers in "Rouge et Noir," the play which the members of the Vincent Club are to give in April.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Bolles of Commonwealth avenue, who were to have sailed for Europe last week, are sailing to-day instead. They are leaving from New York on the Cedric. According to their present plans they will return to Boston in June and go at once to their beautiful summer home in Cohasset. The Misses Dorothy and Barbara Bolles are accompanying their parents and the trip promises many delightful experiences.

Mrs. Henry H. Fay, with her two charming daughters, Miss Dorothy and Miss Mary Fay, with Mrs. Fay's sisters, Miss Mary and Miss Ellen Spooner, will shortly sail for Europe to spend the entire Summer in travel.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Lindall Whitthrop of Beacon street are sailing for Europe this week. The Winthrops have a delightful home on the Isle of Wight, where they spend much of their time and do considerable entertaining.

Mr. and Mrs. William Vail Kellen of Beacon street are about to arrive in Madeira.

Among those entertaining at luncheon to-day are Miss Helen and Miss May Burnham of Commonwealth avenue.

Most interesting reports are reaching us from Washington, giving some details of the latest fashionable fad of the smart set in that fascinated city. The fad is known as the Monument Climbing Club, and the members are pledged to climb the several hundred steps to Washington Monument three times each week.

Among those who are especially interested in the new club are Mrs. George von L. Meyer of Boston and Washington, wife of the Secretary of the Navy; Mrs. Frank B. MacVeagh, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, who has been entertaining a number of Bostonians in her Washington home this Winter; Mrs. Wickersham and Mrs. Victor Metcalf.

It was feared that the recent bereavement in the family of Mrs. William Howard Taft might be the occasion of canceling the dance which Mrs. Taft had planned to give on the last Monday evening of the month for her two children, who will be at home from college for the Easter recess, but as the dance is to be a formal affair and was originally intended merely as a delightful diversion for Miss Taft and her brother, Robert Taft, it will not be cancelled.

On the first Wednesday of the month the big ball at the Navy Yard in Washington will be given for the benefit of the Navy Relief Association and President and Mrs. Taft are expected to attend.

Among the Washington women who are on the committee having the affair in charge are Mrs. George von L. Meyer, Mrs. Beekman Winthrop, Mrs. Truman H. Newberry, Mrs. E. H. C. Leutze, Mrs. Richard Cleveland and Mrs. R. T. Mulligan, wife of Captain Mulligan of the United States Navy.

Venus and Diana All Right, but, "Oh, You Modern Girls"

Professor William Lyon Phelps, of Yale University, says that if twenty of the best formed and best looking women that could be found to-day were stood alongside a Grecian woman of old the former would look like caricatures.—News Item.

Woman, lovely woman—
(You that live to-day)
You are charged with being ugly
And not a bit so gay
As the statues done in marble
Of the ancient Grecian belles,
Who used to melt the stony hearts
Of ancient Grecian swells.

It may be true, or maybe not,
That's very hard to judge;
But still we modern men opine
The statues couldn't budge
And twist our heart-strings near so much,
And make us think and cry
The many pretty things to them
We say to you to-day.

The reason? Well, it can't be found,
Except upon this basis:
That if fair Venus came here now
And scorned tight gowns and laces,
And wouldn't paint and powder up,
And wouldn't wear small shoes,
And simply wore a flowing robe
She'd give the men the blues.

Diana, Helen, all the rest,
With beauty plump and hearty,
Would draw the consolation prize
For looks at a modern party.
It's just because they're out of date—
Outdone by fashion's whirls—
So, we men love the statues fair—
But—Oh, you Modern Girls!

LOGH.

THE CALLER LEFT.

A QUIET, bashful sort of a young fellow was making a call on a Capitol Hill girl one evening not so very long ago, when her father came into the parlor with his watch in his hand. It was about half-past 9 o'clock. At the moment the young man was standing on a chair, adjusting a picture over the piano. The girl had asked him to fix it. As he turned the old gentleman, a gruff, stout fellow, said:

"Young man, do you know what time it is?"

The bashful youth got off the chair nervously. "Yes, sir," he replied. "I was just going."

He went into the hall without any delay and took his hat and coat. The girl's father followed him. As the caller reached the doorknob the old gentleman again asked him if he knew what time it was.

"Yes, sir," was the youth's reply. "Good night." And he left without waiting to get his coat on.

After the door had closed the old gentleman turned to the girl.

"What's the matter with that fellow?" he asked. "My watch ran down this afternoon, and I wanted him to tell me the time so that I could set it."

GETTING THE RINGS MIXED

"One ring for bellhop, two rings for chambermaid," read a hotel guest from the printed card hanging in his room. He pressed the button and the maid appeared. "I don't want you," said the guest, "I rang once, I'm."

"Oh," replied the maid, "I thought you rang twice once."

NOT HER YOUNG MAN

"Yes, ma'am," said Mary. I'm going to leave you. I don't like that sulp of dude that calls on Miss Mabel."

"The idea!" exclaimed her mistress. "He doesn't call to see you, so what—"

"I know he don't, ma'am; but I'm afraid one of the neighbors might think he does."

AN UNORGANIZED OFFENCE

"That man won't stay on the force long," said one policeman. "He's too far blind the times."

"What makes you think so?" inquired the other.

"Arrested a boy for scorching on a bicycle."

FOREARMED

"With all your wealth are you not afraid of the proletariat?" asked the deliver in Utopian problems.

"No, I ain't," snapped Mrs. Newrich. "We boil all our drinkin' water."—Philadelphia Record.

"Little Eva" Is Found; Lives in Cambridge

THE first Little Eva of the golden ringlets and the cherubic smile, she who played on the knee of dear Old Uncle Tom and piped away and went to heaven on snow-white wings, is still very much alive and hale and hearty. At sixty-two she is an unusually attractive woman. Hundreds of Bostonians know her and love her.

There have been other little Evas in the history of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a play which has become a sort of landmark in the annals of the country. But this story deals with the original Little Eva, the first person to play the part which brought tears even from Southern audiences before the Civil War.

Little Eva is Mrs. Cordelia Macdonald of No. 22 Putnam avenue, Cambridge. She is a mother and a grandmother, and play wrights and actors are a part of her family history and her family future. As she appears to-day it is hardly credible that she first appeared on the American stage way back in 1852, long before Lincoln became a national figure and when the Mexican war was still fresh in the minds of the people.

Began Career at Four.

But there is a reason for the youthfulness. Little Eva began her stage career at the age of four and stopped it at twelve. In her eight years on the stage she toured practically the entire settled part of the country, playing only in the larger cities, and despite the slavery agitation she never had an unpleasant evening in the entire run of the piece.

It was a family affair, the first presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in which she played a part. Her father was stage manager and took the part of St. Clair; her mother was Topsy, the little negress who never was born, but "growed," and little Cordelia was Eva. The other members of the cast were all relatives or friends.

"It is for this reason," says Mrs. Macdonald, "that I am not in a position to discuss the value of the new child labor law which bars children from taking part in stage performances. My parents and friends were along with me all the time. My father was my tutor. The atmosphere was a family atmosphere.

Studies Not Neglected.

"No, I do not believe my eight years on the stage as a child did me any harm. I was obie to study, and my father sent me to a private school.

"My father," she said, "first produced 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' He was manager of the Troy Museum at Troy, N. Y. It was in September, 1852, that he first staged the play. He staged it himself.

"There were other versions of the play later on the stage. I remember one which played at the Boston Museum where we played the other house in this city, but ours seemed to be the standard. We did not copyright plays in those days.

"Father himself took the part of St. Clair, and mother played Topsy. She created that part and made it livable. I was Little Eva.

Made Record of Period.

"From the first the play had a remarkable success. We ran some hundred nights in Troy, an unusual thing for those days when a week was a long time for a play to stay in a city. Then, when the fame of the production spread, we went to New York with it, and there made a new record for the country. We gave 325 consecutive performances to full houses, and could have stayed longer. It was a remarkable thing in those days. No other play ever had such a run up to then.

"Later we toured the country. Touring in those days was not what it is now, but I enjoyed it and did not seem to suffer from my travels. After playing in Boston, where we received a very warm welcome, we went South. We played in Washington and Baltimore, which was a Southern city. We went to St. Louis and had quite a run there.

"In neither Washington nor St. Louis, which were then strongly pro-slavery cities, did we meet with any discourtesies. The people took the show good naturedly, our reflections on slavery conditions were not taken seriously. They came to laugh and cry, and they did, even in the South. The tour was very profitable.

"We also played in Chicago and Philadelphia, and in many cities farther south than St. Louis. But I do not remember any unpleasant incident during the whole tour.

Dropped When War Came.

"As to approached I remember that father took note of the feelings of the people and dropped 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' from the repertoire. We had a number of other plays in our list and we played those. We were in Washington just about war time and we omitted 'Uncle Tom' entirely. The other plays were quite successful, but none of them ever scored the record run of the first one in which I appeared.

LYDIA LIPKOWSKA AS ROSINA IN THE 'BARBER OF SEVILLE'

LYDIA LIPKOWSKA.

Lipkowska as Rosina in Old Rossini Opera

THE jolliest and most rollicking of all grand operas is the "Barber of Seville" which is produced at the Boston Opera House to-night. It was composed by Rossini in 1815 so that it is nearly 100 years old. Yet Rossini used such fresh light and delightful melodies that the opera is as popular as ever.

The part of Rosina is sung to-night by Lydia Lipkowska. It is a favorite role for coloratura artists and is replete with technical difficulties.

Constantino sings the role of Count Almaviva, and Figaro, the famous barber, is sung by Formari. It is the best part of this clever baritone and in it he always is successful.

The story of the barber is briefly this. The Count is in love with Rosina who is kept under lock and key by her cruel guardian. But Figaro, the barber, is allowed admittance because people have to be shaved, the guardian of course, not Rosina. He arranges things for the lovers. The Count first gains admittance as a drunken soldier quartered in the house and next as a music master come to teach Rosina how to sing.

The young couple make love while Figaro shaves the guardian and fills his eyes with lather so he cannot see what is going on. Rosina in a fit of pique agrees to marry her old guardian, but before the ceremony finds means to get word to her friend and is married to the Count while the guardian has gone to get a notary.

SPRING POEM

SAME old zephyrs, same old rills,
Same old tiresome daffodils,
Same old lumbkins, same old bees,
Same old bunkling willow trees,
Same old robins, same old dew;
Spring has nothing that is new.
Same old greensward, Nature's couch,
Same old poet with a crouch.

Stops Itching at Once.

Quite recently a chemist formulated a compound which possesses such soothing and curative properties that, when applied, it stops the itching of eczema and similar diseases immediately. Sufferers are simply astounded at the rapidity of the relief which follows its use. The skin heals in an astonishingly short time, and all traces of the disease are eradicated. The name of this new remedy is Cuticum, and it is sold by all druggists for 10c. and 25c. a box. It is also remarkably effective when used for acne, herpes, pimples, blackheads, hoarkaids, itching piles, tetter, salt rheum and skin diseases generally. A 10c. box will verify all these statements.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS; FINANCIAL NEWS

MORGAN FAKE RUMOR AGAIN

STATE STREET, March 16.—Stocks were again weak, and besides the heavy professional selling in Wall street there was also selling of long stock on the decline by big interests. Reading and the Pacifics were the weakest features, where declines extended to over 2 points.

The rumor of Mr. Morgan's illness was again circulated, but little attention was paid to it. Stocks declined so easily that it looks as if the liber situation was not so clean cut tonight as even the reorganization had accepted mediation by the government.

The opening was weak although London failed to respond to yesterday's sharp reaction. A big borrowing demand for stocks exists which indicates that there is a considerable short interest developing.

Locally copper stocks did not do much although demonstrations occurred in both Lake and North Lake. The former was quite erratic, rising 1⅛ points, but later lost most of it.

North Lake spunted 2⅞ points on early expectations of favorable news from drill operations. U. S. Smelting broke 1¾ points.

Again a small decrease is reported in the foreign visible supply of copper, there being a reduction of 626 tons the last fortnight. Amalgamated and Smelters were both weak in New York, the former breaking 2⅛ points and the latter 1⅝.

Declines in Wall Street were about ½ point for railroad issues outside of those already mentioned. Steel fell 1⅛. A report said that the Southern Pacific had practically arranged for the sale of an additional amount of refunding 4 per cent. collaterals.

On the local curb business was quiet and prices were irregular to heavy. Champion Copper was the active feature.

SAND BANK FALLS; MAN SMOTHERED

A falling sand bank suffocated Percy Hadden, twenty, of No. 107 Massachusetts avenue, He was working in the rear of the Leopold Morse home in Milton. The man who was working with him escaped the unsightly sandbank, but left the work for a short time and on his return saw no sign of Hadden.

CHAMPION

We Investigated Champion Copper Co. property six months ago, before offering stock to the public. At that time over $250,000 had been expended in development work and equipment.

Since that time $15,000 more has been expended. The Company has a substantial cash reserve in the treasury and also 500,000 shares of its capital stock. The Company has no bonds or preferred stock outstanding. All shareholders are on an equal basis.

The real equity value of outstanding shares—based on the money investment in Champion is around 40 cents a share—to say nothing of earning capacity.

How long do you think it should stay at its present selling price at 10 cents? Maybe the first shipment of ore will send it to 50 cents a share. We think it is purchase at any price under 40 cents. Write us if interested.

COPPER STOCKS SELL HEAVIEST

NEW YORK, March 16.—Labor troubles continued to cause uneasiness in the stock market in Wall Street to-day. Liquidation was resumed and as a result the leading securities showed losses of about a point in the early trading. Selling was heaviest in the copper shares, Amalgamated and Smelters rising nearly a point each.

Harriman issues were depressed and Southern Pacific lost ⅝ of a point, while Union Pacific showed decline of one point. Steel was offered on a liberal scale and declined to 84⅝, a loss of ⅝ of a point compared with the closing price of the previous session. Steel preferred declined 1½ points.

Norfolk & Western was steady in the early trading because of reports that the dividend would be increased to 6 per cent.

Conservative bankers do not believe this dividend will be increased, but think the market for that stock is being strengthened to facilitate sales of the new convertible bonds which the company will issue in the immediate future.

The London American shares were irregular.

Copper shares were lower on the New York market, but International Rubber was strong and advanced to a high record.

USE SIGNS TO UNITE ALL MACHINISTS

With urgent appeals for the use of that craft to join the union painted on the foot signs, and drawn through the streets on a one-horse wagon, the machinists of Boston to-day inaugurated the most unique advertising campaign ever undertaken by a labor organization in the country's city. By this method they hope to increase the membership of the local to 4,000 or 5,000 when their demand for an increased wage is supposed to become effective.

DEATH TAKES WOMAN WHO GAVE FREELY

Martha Rebecca Hunt, who donated $5,000 toward the establishing of the Somerville Hospital and gave the bells and chimes to the Unitarian Church on High street avenue, is dead at her home, No. 50 Thurston street, Somerville. She had been an invalid for several years and was unable to get out of bed.

STATE ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

State street does not care to be too bearish on strike news, and yet it is disposed to regard the situation as the West with considerable apprehension. It is not the fact that the railroad men are in this mood that bothers the stock market, but the sympathetic effects that are likely to follow.

The market is bewildered by the number of danger signals now flying, and the public is not willing to come in because of the mixed outlook.

So far those who have stocks are inclined to hold on to them, for the reason that industrial troubles are not apt to come to an end at any time, in which case the price level will be raised quickly.

One reason for the industrial unrest is the high prices of commodities, and there is a strong probability that this matter will adjust itself. As soon as it becomes known that agricultural conditions are improved commodity prices will fall automatically, and this improvement already is in sight.

If there is any trend at all at the moment, it seems to be downward. This downward trend is believed by friends of the bull campaign to be nothing more than a preparation for the American Tobacco dividend, which is now expected next Monday, or on April 1 at the latest. The bull campaigners point to the fact that for an immediate advance on the theory that this dividend would not come out until September or perhaps not until October. Now that it is known that it will come in April it will do anything important until it is out of the way.

The unwisdom of this extra dividend on Steel has finally been made apparent, and it will soon sell more than 8 per cent basis, and it is possible that its method of paying so may further unsettle the stock market.

Representatives of the various steel companies take a conservatively optimistic view of the steel situation. The better demand on the part of railroads for new equipment is an encouraging feature. This is taken as an indication that there will be little interruption to the period of prosperity the railroads are now enjoying this year. A representative of one company said: "All forms of activity in business in the near future has passed. Specifically the railroads will buy all they can get and show you how to get business, you say? Why, by offering lower freight rates. Watch for that. Well, today for positive proof of it, look at the price of Reading."

In the Vineyards and Orchards of the Northwest are unequalled opportunities to make money in intensive farming, fruit-growing, vegetable-raising, dairying, poultry and stock-raising. Western Washington, for instance, is a great state of snowcapped peaks, noble forests, tumbling rivers, fertile valleys and wide-lapped seashore. Incomparable climate. Immense water power; vast areas of valuable timber; a fishing industry that rivals the Atlantic. Tacoma, Seattle and Spokane and fruit-growing in a high degree of development. The Yakima, Walla Walla, Wenatchee, Spokane and Lewiston-Clarkston Valleys, the Puget Sound Basin, the Big Bend and Okanogan Country, Grays Harbor, Willapa Harbor, the Inland Empire Region, the Big Bend and Palouse Country present ideal conditions. Western Washington fruit lands grow prize-winning fruits and berries. The Washington Northern Pacific Railway has the best grade of product. You ought to learn more about the Northwest and its possibilities. You ought to see it. Write tonight for information. Say what state interests you most.

The Northern Pacific extends into and through Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon. New, rich territory being opened up by extensions now building. The Homeseeker's Chance!

We May Not Need Police Officers Sometime

In That Day There Will Be No Need of Naval Fleets to Safeguard the World's Peace—But It Is a Long Way Off

The English-Japanese-Russian understanding tends toward violent aggression against the rights and ambitions of the newly awakened Chinese Empire.

It tends toward the unsettling of the balance of power in the Far East—and is therefore dangerous to the world's peace.

"Balance of power"—whether in Europe, in Asia or elsewhere—means a tolerable approximation to international justice. And the unsettling of that balance means the creation of intolerable conditions against which the injured are likely to revolt with violence and spread a conflagration of strife.

The idea of this balance is the international equivalent of what is meant by "law and order" in the domestic concerns of a nation.

AS LAW AND ORDER ARE MAINTAINED AT HOME BY A VIGOROUS ASSERTION OF POLICE POWER—SO THE JUST BALANCE BETWEEN NATIONS CAN BE PRESERVED ONLY BY AN ARMED DEFENSE OF THE PEACE STATUS.

The American and the newspapers allied to it are doing their best to rouse the country to the need of a stronger fleet in the Pacific—for the maintenance of "the open door" in Asia, and the international equities for which that phrase has come to stand.

No doubt the day may come upon the earth when nations will not need policemen to enforce their laws. In that day they will not need naval fleets for the safeguarding of the world's peace.

But as things stand at the present moment the fanatics who would disarm the nation in its foreign relations are as anarchic as those who would disarm the law at home.

Great Britain as well as Russia is to-day threatened with a domestic revolution. Its Foreign office verges toward reckless aggression in oriental affairs—because social wars can be staved off by the precipitation of foreign conflicts. Warring classes will unite against an external enemy.

The Russian and British cabinets join hands with Japan in the working out of a monopolistic policy in the orient.

America is pledged to help China to maintain its political integrity and to give all nations an equal trade chance—because this international honesty is the best policy—is, indeed, the only policy that will keep the peace.

Are All Millionaires Robbers?

Mr. Fels of Philadelphia Makes Some Very Strong Statements

Mr. Joseph Fels, of Philadelphia, is performing a valuable public service in his frank, Zacchean confession of monopolistic theft, but his generous impulse has moved him to the use of somewhat extravagant language.

He is mistaken in saying that "all millionaires are robbers."

In a society seamed through and through with unjust laws, it is indeed true that no man's fortune, whether great or small, can be utterly free from some taint of injustice.

But to be a robber is to be a champion and promoter of theft. And there are certainly other rich men besides Mr. Fels who hate stealing, and fight against it.

Mr. Fels thinks that the only way to put a stop to commercial theft and the extortions of privilege is to enact the single tax. There are other fighters against the grand larcenies of corrupt business who think otherwise.

The American thinks otherwise.

This newspaper believes that there is such a thing as honest and legitimate wealth—and that the opposite doctrine is unwholesome and unscientific.

If a man's private fortune grows by a process that helps make all other men richer, it is a legitimate fortune—an honor and advantage to the commonwealth. If it grows by making other men poorer, it is a dishonor and a disadvantage.

Under modern conditions there is no assignable limit to the possibilities of public service in industry and commerce. Consequently the mere size of a man's fortune raises no presumption against its honesty

The American has never struck a blow at a big fortune for being great—but only for being mean.

And the American people have no jealousy of their rich men whose prosperity is a part of the general welfare.

They have a growing abhorrence and indignation against the private fortunes that have grown by grasping and monopoly.

FORTY IMMORTALS

—DEAD ONES

FORTY LIVE ONES

—BADLY NEEDED

A Chance for You to Name the Latter and Win $10—A Contest That Will Give You Something to Think About—Prizes for Near Winners—Send Selections of Men Who Have Done Something

The State Street Trust Company of this city has issued a very handsome brochure giving a list of Forty Immortals—men of the past whose achievements would entitle them to places in Boston's Hall of Fame—if Boston happened to have such a temple.

Dead men are not nearly as good as live men, as everybody knows, and while the AMERICAN has no fault to find with the list prepared by the State Street Trust Company, this newspaper is much more interested in "live ones." For that reason readers of the AMERICAN are asked to submit the names of men now living in Boston or the metropolitan district whose achievements entitle them to places in a Hall of Fame that may or may not be built some of these days in this city.

Send in your lists. No reason to tell all the facts why this, that or the other man is entitled to a place in the galaxy of immortals, for that would make the articles too long and the AMERICAN could not publish as many as would be the case if only the names, with few explanations, were given. Select any names you please. The men must be living, and of course have achieved something in some direction that entitles them to fame.

For the best list of forty names the AMERICAN will pay $10. For the next best, $5, and for the next five best lists $1 for each list will be paid. Send letters to "Live Ones" Editor, the American, 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass.

Actions and Words

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

"T'S just like this," said William Jones, down at the club one night.

"That Wife and I are college chums—we never have a fight;
She thinks that I am handsome, and I think she is divine.
Our lives flow on as smoothly as the smoothest brand of wine.
A trusting wife is great to have—she drives away all strife"——
Then Mr. William Jones went home and beat his trusting wife.

"I'm kind of proud, I reckon," said a man named Hiram Green
"I'd starve before I'd touch a friend for even half a bean.
Shakespeare was sore on borrowing, the dear old Avon bard,
He wouldn't make a touch when he was up against it hard.
And I'm the same as Shakespeare, I'm cautious and I'm thrifty"——
Then Mr. Hiram Green went out and raised a friend for fifty.

"Take it from me," said Bertrand Brown, "this gambling is a joke:
You get no good from winnings, and when you're broke, you're broke.
I used to play the faro bank, I used to play the wheel,
I used to play draw poker, too, and try the Klondike spiel.
Never again for little Bert—my salary I need"——
Then Mr. Bertram Brown went out and bet it on a steed.

ENVOY.

There was a wise man named Socrates,
Who dwelt in a city called Athens;
He once told Demosthenes,
Who got it from Diogenes,
That actions speak louder than words.

A Guide to the Professions

By WEX JONES

POOL PLAYER—To become a pool player it is necessary to think of nothing else and to leave your conscience, if you have any, behind on entering the poolroom. After five years' continuous practice you will be ready for graduation.

SCRIBE—Our readers would do well not to waste time in study for this profession, which is no longer practiced in the majority of our cities. A scribe was a correspondent who began each story: "Ye scribe attended the strawberry social or whatever it might be in the Opera House last Monday a week ago, but owing to a severe cold was unable to write his article in time for last week's issue of the Palladium. The social was a great success, a pleasant time being had by all." In England the profession goes under another name, that of correspondent. The articles there begin: "Your Correspondent visited the scene of the accident three days ago, but owing to the confusion Your Correspondent could not obtain a connected story of the disaster. However, Your Correspondent now believes that the accident was caused by something which has not yet been detected. At any rate, Your Correspondent is able to assert positively that the train went off the tracks and that some passengers were killed. Your Correspondent will endeavor to ascertain the number of fatalities and to telegraph the names of the dead as soon as possible during the coming week."

THINKER, NEW—To be a new thinker is pleasing and doesn't hurt any of your friends, as being an optimist does. The science consists in thinking you are whatever you want to be. Thus, if you are short and fat, on getting up in the morning look in the mirror and inform yourself that you are tall and thin. Repeat "I am tall and thin" 6,000 times before breakfast. In about two years you will begin to believe yourself, and as soon as you think you are tall and thin it's just as good as being so. If you are busted, repeat to yourself 10,000 times the sentence, "I have more money than Rockefeller." After you have convinced yourself of this you will feel just as happy as if you had it. Only don't go into a restaurant and try to pay for your meal with a cheque drawn on your fortune. Any person liable to frequent arrest, such as a taxi chauffeur, should become a new thinker. Then when behind the bars of a cell he can repeat 75,000 times, "I am dining at the Plaza." Thus all the discomforts can be avoided.
